BRITISH CLOSE TRAP ON NAZIS IN HOLLAND

U. S. THIRD ARMY FIGHTS INTO KASSEL, FULDA WITH UNITS WITHIN 155 MILES OF BERLIN

Gen. Patton's Forces 95 Miles From Leipzig in Swift Power Drive to Bisect Reich and Cut Enemy Troops in North

SECURITY BLACKOUT VEILS SURGING ADVANCES

By JAMES M. LONG

Paris, April 2.—(P)—The American First and Ninth armies have added 21 divisions of 110,000 first line enemy troops in the Ruhr and a British Second Army, driving swiftly northeast, threatened today throw a noose about another whole army group in Holland, reducing German strength in the west by two-thirds.

The Ninth Army has driven 100 miles east of the Rhine, well past the Ruhr and its vast steel and coal works.

The Third Army, rambling swiftly and almost at will over central Germany, crashed into Kassel and Fulda and drove within 155 miles of Berlin and 198 of the Russian lines in the east in a mighty campaign to bisect Germany.

The British Second Army, wheeling toward the north German ports, plunged to the outskirts of Lengerich, 20 miles northeast of the Westphalian capital of Muenster and 122 from Hamburg. Lengerich is 74 miles from Bremen and 217 from Berlin.

Field Marshal Montgomery lifted the long silence about the 21st Army group advances in the Ruhr and on the Westphalian plains late today.

Among towns captured were Rhine and Enschede. Britons were in the outskirts of Gronau. The Zutphen-Enschede canal has been reached.

The entire German army Group B commanded by Field Marshal Walther von Model was trapped in the Ruhr. In army group B are the fifth German panzer army, last tank army the enemy has in the west, the 15th army and portions of the battered first parachute army.

In the 4,000 square mile Ruhr bag are five tank, ten infantry, two parachute and four other divisions of Volksturm and Volksgrenadier troops. Model was believed to have escaped before the Second and Third divisions slammed shut the tight steel trap on Easter Sunday.

The trapped Germans thrashed about looking for a weak spot they could not find.

Farther south, the Seventh army threatened the great Nazi shrine city of Nuremberg from positions 45 miles away, as well as Stuttgart.

The Third army in the center threw tanks within 95 miles of Leipzig and 92 of Czechoslovakia. The U. S. Ninth army was disclosed to be clearing up the difficult built up Ruhr area north of the Elmscher canal connecting Duisburg with the Dortmund-Ems canal—perhaps the most important artificial waterway in Germany except for the Kiel canal.

Already, German army group B has been trapped in the Ruhr and up to 100,000 Germans of three armies were thrashing about in the tightening iron grip of the first and Ninth armies there.

The Third army, meanwhile, fought into Kassel and Fulda and sent armored spearheads probing within 155 miles of Berlin and 198 of the Russian lines. The drive to bisect Germany reached with 95 miles of Leipzig.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley sent tank columns far beyond both Kassel and Fulda, and a second armored spearhead probing within 155 miles of Berlin and 198 of the Russian lines. The drive to bisect Germany reached with 95 miles of Leipzig.

London Suggestion On Punishing Hitler

London, April 2.—(P)—

The London Evening Standard sampled public opinion on the question, "what would you do with Hitler if they catch him alive?" Among the hundreds of answers:

Fasten him to a rocket bomb timed to explode in the air... exhibit him and use the money raised to reduce the British income tax... chain him near a siren... put him astride a doodlebug and aim it at Germany...

Make him stand a salute in every German village... while loud speakers broadcast records of his speeches... hound him day and night, but don't kill him.

VINSON WILL TAKE OVER BYRNES POST

Second Change of Jobs for New Director of War Mobilization in Less Than a Month

AWAITS CONFIRMATION

Washington, April 2.—(P)—President Roosevelt accepted today the resignation of James F. Byrnes as director of war mobilization and reconversion, and picked Fred M. Vinson to succeed him.

Byrnes will stay on the job until Vinson's nomination is approved by the senate. Then he will break Vinson into his new duties.

It was the second change of jobs for Vinson in less than a month. On March 6 he was nominated federal loan administrator. Prior to that date he was director of economic stabilization.

Byrnes had submitted his resignation on March 24, while preparing a report to President Roosevelt and congress which outlined the plans he has developed for reconversion after Germany's collapse.

The report was dated yesterday and Byrnes had hoped to leave office today.

Vinson worked closely with Byrnes while serving as stabilization director.

Before that, Vinson was a judge on the federal circuit court of appeals for the District of Columbia. Earlier he served a long term as a representative from Kentucky.

Mr. Roosevelt said it was with "heartfelt regret" that he had received Byrnes' resignation.

He said he had no alternative other than to accept, but requested the former supreme court justice and senator from South Carolina to make the resignation effective when Vinson qualifies for the job.

After turning over the reins to Vinson, Byrnes plans to take a rest at his home at Spartansburg, South Carolina. An aide said he had "absolutely no plans" made after that.

Marines Capture Okinawa Airfields in War's Greatest Amphibious Operation

Another Stepping Stone to Japan

Pacific Fleet headquarters announced for the first time a combined fleet action of American and British task forces against Japanese bastions. U. S. infantrymen and marines invaded strategic Okinawa, while the south, in the Sakashima Island group, British battleships and planes blasted enemy installations.

Extension of Expired Coal Contract Sets Stage For New Crisis In Next Thirty Days

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, April 2.—(P)—John L. Lewis dispelled the threat of a nation-wide coal strike today by a zero hour extension of the expired bituminous contract through April.

His action came after the War Labor Board ordered an indefinite continuance of the agreement beyond its Saturday midnight deadline, with any wage adjustments to date from April 1.

The operators, who had asked for a 30-day limit on their retroactive pay obligation, agreed unconditionally to the board's order.

But Lewis, irked over the loss of retroactive wage increases in the seven-month controversy of 1943, imposed the until-May 1-only reservation on his acceptance.

This set the stage for another possible crisis in a month, but both miners and operators were hopeful they could work out a new contract before then. Negotiations, who planned to resume their conferences today, reflected this optimism despite Lewis' statements at the WLB hearing on Saturday.

If today's conference should determine that further collective bargaining were hopeless, the WLB would be asked to take over the whole show in an effort to resolve the case by May 1.

WLB Chairman George W. Taylor said the board would not make an issue now of Lewis' limited acceptance of its directive. The main thing, he said, is that the contract has been extended; the problem of the May 1 expiration will be dealt with "when we come to that bridge."

YANKS PUSH EASTWARD ON VITAL ISLAND

Tough Fighting Expected as Enemy Reorganizes for Defense of Strategic Base

INVOLVES 1,400 SHIPS

BULLETIN

New York, April 2.—(P)—American invasion forces have started landings on Kume Island, about 60 miles west of Okinawa and west of the Kerama group, a Tokyo broadcast reported by the BLUE network said today.

By ELMONT WAITE

Guam, April 2.—(P)—Thousands of U. S. Tenth army infantrymen and marines invaded strategic Okinawa—325 miles from Japan proper—Easter morning at little cost and found the going still surprisingly easy as they pushed eastward today toward the important Nakagusuku bay fleet anchorage.

The Yanks went ashore on the west coast at 8:30 a. m. yesterday (6:30 p. m. Saturday, eastern war time), quickly captured two airfields and a dozen virtually deserted villages and towns. By nightfall they had carved out a beachhead three miles deep at points on an isthmus eight miles wide. Adm. Chester Nimitz announced today.

Front reports said a third airstrip—unidentified—also was seized.

The Yank invaders walked inland from the beaches 200 yards or more without once having to seek shelter.

Tough fighting is expected, however, as the Japanese reorganize for defense. The enemy, surprised by invasion of Okinawa's western shore near Katena after a 10-day bombing and bombardment of his eastern shore defenses, was expected to fight fanatically from prepared positions, probably in the low hills in the center of the island. Estimates of Japanese strength on Okinawa range from 60,000 to 100,000 troops.

Size of the Yank invasion force was not announced but it, too, numbered perhaps 100,000.

Capture of Okinawa will afford airfields for intensified aerial neutralization of the empire's home airfields and continued devastation of its war vital industrial centers.

Okinawa is only 315 air miles southwest of Kyushu, southernmost of the Japanese home islands; 365 miles northeast of Formosa, 750 from Luzon and 400 from the China coast.

Nakagusuku bay, would afford the Pacific fleet a new advanced base.

Virtual control of the east China sea and a much tighter blockade around Japan sea lanes to the southwest also are in prospect.

Some Restrictions Will Be Relaxed When Germans Quit

Washington, April 2.—(P)—Told ally that victory in Europe is "in sight", Americans had this bit of promise today from War blitz James F. Byrnes: "The midnight curfew, the rationing and the horse racing will be lifted promptly when victory comes. Gasoline rationing will be increased slightly. Otherwise reconversion at will be slowly-paced; we will at as well this year, and wage and rationing controls, all as 'the present high rates', must be continued until an is beaten.

Byrnes' quarterly report to congress on war mobilization and reconversion, made public Saturday night, disclosed that:

Twenty per cent of the resources now going to war will be released for civilian goods in three months after V-E Day, 30 per cent in nine months, and civilians can expect some new automobiles within a year.

Spending for war will drop about one-third, to $60,000,000,000 a year.

Lawrence Hat Is In Ring for Mayor

Pittsburgh, April 2.—(P)—Supported by the Democratic organization, State Democratic Chairman David L. Lawrence's hat was in the ring today for the mayoralty of Pittsburgh.

Lawrence, who never held an elective office in his long political career, was selected by city and county Democratic officials at a meeting Saturday.

Mayor Cornelius D. Scully, who previously announced that he will not run for office, said he thought Lawrence would be "readily elected" and make a "competent mayor."

Lawrence ran for office only once. In 1931 he was defeated in a close race for county commissioner.

Prothonotary David B. Roberts declared, however, "they are trying to railroad things, but I am still in the fight."

Cold Wave Is Driving Down From Canada

By the Associated Press

A cold wave swept down across the border from the Canadian Rockies today in the wake of floods, tornadoes and tidal waves which left at least eight dead, hundreds homeless and uncounted property damage in the deep south.

In a special warning, the U. S. weather bureau forecast the possibility of damaging frosts to mid-western and Missouri valley fruit crops.

In the far west Cheyenne, Wyo., had ten inches of snow and Denver six. Wyoming reported temperatures of 10 to 15 degrees. The snowstorm was moving eastward into Kansas and southern Colorado.

Weekend deluges, which accompanied the sporadic storms, increased the flood danger along the Mississippi's tributaries where engineers have battled to save levees for weeks.

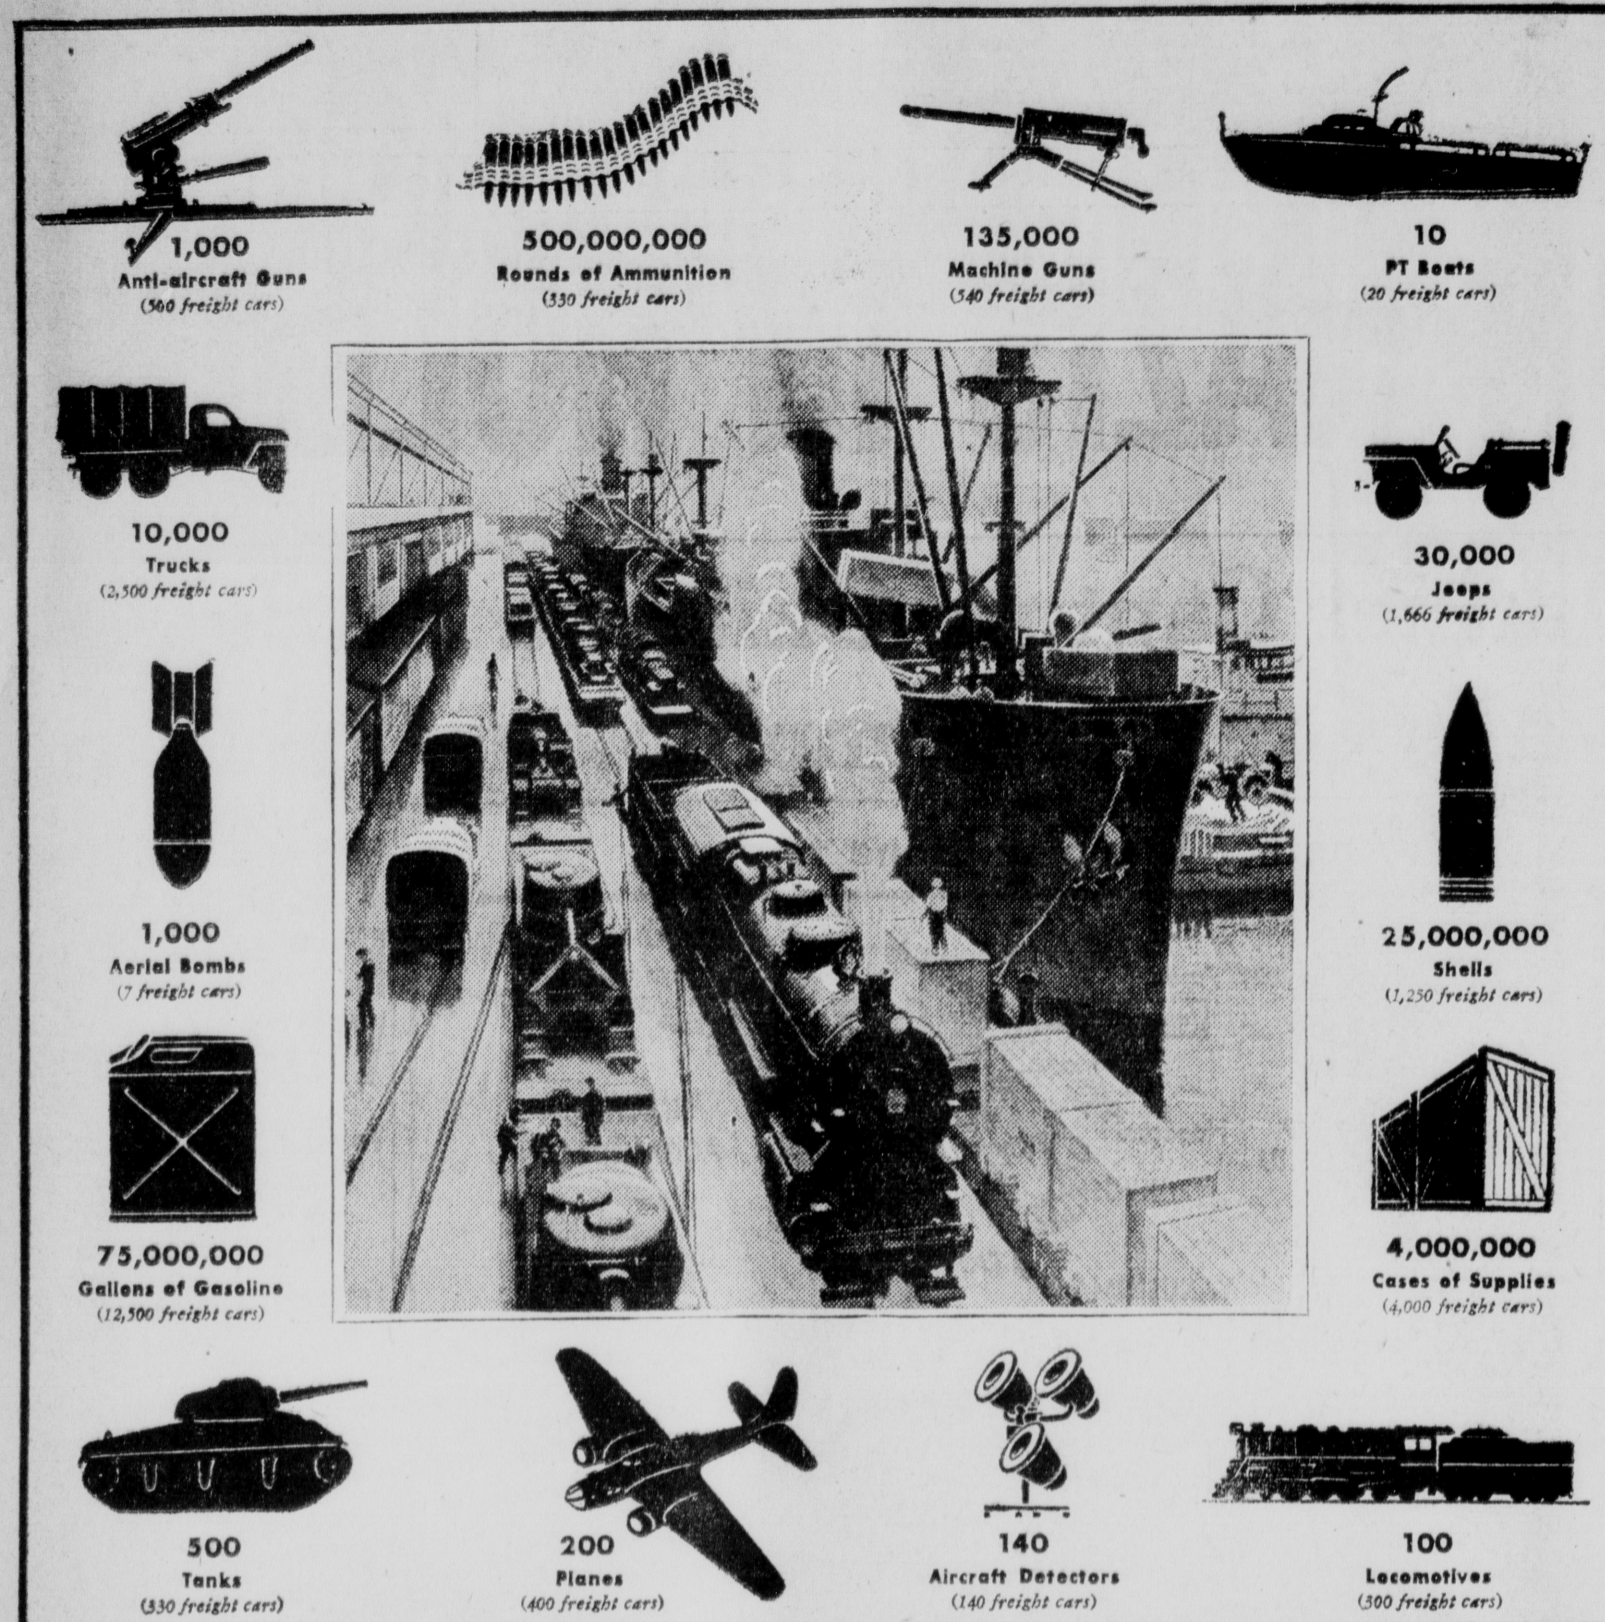

A three-foot tidal wave from the Gulf of Mexico swept up Atchafalaya river into Morgan City, La., flooding 30 blocks and driving 70 families from their homes.

Polish Issue May Force Showdown

Washington, April 2.—(P)—United States diplomats are working at top speed to avoid a showdown with Russia over Polish participation in the San Francisco United Nations conference.

High officials here hope the Polish National Unity government agreed upon at Yalta in February still may be set up in time to resolve the controversy.

It takes 24,483 Freight Cars to put this War Materiel aboard a big Convoy

The figures relating to materiel—from Army and Navy sources—give a good idea of the enormous quantities carried by a big convoy on a crossing to one of the major war zones.

The other figures—those in italics—show the number of freight cars needed to transport those war supplies to port. Collecting all that materiel—bringing it hundreds, even thousands of miles—delivering it to ship side on schedule, in a pre-arranged order—doing it day after day—is one of the biggest and most responsible jobs railroads have.

Yet, thanks to the magnificent cooperation of the Navy, the Army, port authorities, shippers and traveling Americans—the railroads are doing this vital job smoothly and methodically—and will continue to do so till Victory is won!

Relative Of Local Man Is War Casualty

Information has just reached us that Edward Rashid, Alexander Rashid's cousin, was killed in action on Iwo Jima, the 27th of February.

Veteran of 15 months of fighting in the Pacific area, Edward took part in four island invasions, the fourth being Iwo Jima. One of his two brothers, Major Ralph Rashid, is in the present drive in Germany. The other, Paul, is now in a California hospital receiving treatment for injuries he suffered in the Tarawa battle, when he and four companions exposed themselves at close quarters to heavy machine-gun fire, thereby opening the way for the demolition crew to destroy a huge bomb-proof shelter which had stalled the advance of the Marines for two days.

The last letter received from Edward was mailed on the 9th of February. In it he said: "At the present time we are aboard ship heading for another invasion. I cannot write the name of the place we are going to, but you will see it in the papers before you get this letter. The reason I am allowed to tell you we are on our way to another island is because our mail will not be sent to the States until after we have landed. So, watch the papers and you'll know where we are."

Edward joined the Marines in 1941, trained at Parris Island, S. C., and had been overseas since December 1943.

A French doctor in World War I is believed to have invented the first ambulance airplane ever used.

Hanson Hurt; Car Crashes Into His Truck

Marshall Hanson, 215 Onondaga avenue suffered some severe hurts to his shoulder and side and Dick Sealie, also of Onondaga avenue had a bump on the head sustained in a motor crash Saturday night. Hanson was driving a panel truck owned by Sherman Offertier and was making a delivery of flowers on Conewango avenue between Roy and Pioneer streets. As the truck was parked it was struck by a Pontiac sedan driven by Raymond E. Nelson, 523 Conewango avenue who was driving south on Conewango avenue.

Police investigated and just what the outcome will be is not known as Nelson carries no insurance.

Hanson was given medical treatment and it was found that a bone in his left shoulder has been splintered.

Weather Cooperated 100% With Easter in This City

Easter in Warren was a magnificent day with plenty of warm air and the mercury at a point where heavy clothing could be cast aside. It was centered most properly around the religious features of the day and every church had an unusually large attendance at all services. There were many unusual musical and other features and in many of the houses of God the floral offerings were in memory of persons who have passed away.

The Easter fashion parade was also out of the ordinary and carried out reports that the stores in the city had enjoyed a wonderful pre-Easter business. Warren folk were handsomely gowned and the beautiful spring colors added much to the beauty of the picture as the churches discharged their large congregations.

The weather was all that could have been wished with the mercury close to 65 and the sun bright and warm. There was no chill in the breezes that blew during the day and Warren's streets were busy with animated, well groomed groups.

Many had guests over the holidays and scores enjoyed tours to neighboring cities and motor traffic was perhaps the heaviest it has been through the city in many months.

Darling Jewelry Store Will Be Host to High School Grads

Eddie Sullivan, Manager of the Darling Jewelry Company, announces that it will be host to the graduating class of the Warren High School and other schools in this vicinity.

The dance is to be held on Tuesday, May 29th from 8:30 to 11:30 at the Pier Ballroom, Celoron Park, New York. The music will be furnished by Charles Andalora and his eight piece band featuring vocalist Antonia.

This is the Darling Jewelry Company's ninth annual dance for the Senior graduates.

An invitation will be given to each graduate entitling him to bring a friend on the same invitation.

Only soft drinks will be served on the premises.

In addition to the Warren High School, invitations will be sent to Sheffield, Youngsville, Sugar Grove, Russell, Tidoute and Corry, as well as Jamestown, N. Y.

Saturday, April 7, at the Woman's Club. Hosts for this month are Harold S. Hampton, Herbert D. Harris, Franklin R. Hoff, H. M. Irvin, Edward W. Johnson and Dr. A. A. Kippen.

THE STATE POLICE SAY:

Too many drivers try to drive at night at the same speed as in the daylight, instead of with the same factory of safety. They over-drive their headlights, and hold to a speed from which it is physically impossible to come to a stop in the distance of their clear vision ahead. Speed should go down with the sun.

DRUNK LOCKED UP

One drunk missed the early Easter celebration yesterday. He was picked up Saturday night when he landed on the back porch of a Third avenue home and was bumping the door with his head. He interviewed Magistrate Tracy Greenlund Sunday morning.

PLANNED TO EXPAND

All American Aviation which flies the mail route through this city is planning an expansion of its service in Eastern state and had scheduled ten routes. The service through this section since its start had been highly successful and has been growing in fine shape.

IN THE NAVY

Clyde Hornstrom, of the fire department who served as a haseman with Engine Company No. 2 and who left with the contingent of inductees on March 28 has landed in the Navy, according to cards received by friends. His place in the department has been taken by Ernie Springer, who has been serving as a policeman at the National Forge and Ordnance for some time.

TO APPEAR AT HEARINGS

Arch Hunter, of the Washington School leaves tomorrow for Harrisburg where as chairman of the Legislative Commission of the County Educational Association he will appear at a public hearing on legislative matters pertaining to legislation relative to teachers. Dr. Gall Riddelsperger will also appear at a public hearing Wednesday relative to the Blue Cross legislation being presented before the Legislature.

Obituary

Unless otherwise stated, visiting hours at Warren's funeral homes are from 10 a. m. to 12; 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

MERRITT E. YOUNG

Very largely attended funeral services for Merritt Young, of North Warren, were held at three o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, where he had served as choir member and soloist for a quarter-century. The rites followed a brief prayer service at the Lutz Funeral Home, both in charge of Rector Beecher M. Rutledge. Bearers for interment in Pine Grove cemetery at Russell were E. M. Branch, Glenn E. Stone, Guy A. Eddis, Edward C. Rasmussen, Dominic Randinelli and Clayton Kyler, all associates at Warren National Bank, where he had been a teller for 24 years.

The many attending included a large representation of bank employees and the following from out of town: Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Garfield, Liza Townsend, Mrs. Bertha Hunt, Mrs. Ruth Haskins and daughter, Marjorie, Mrs. Otto Amidon, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. James R. Garfield, Ellington, E. N.; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Garfield, the Misses Hattie and Lucy Young, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. Walter Miller, Niobe, N. Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Montague, of Buffalo, New York, were present for the services.

Youngsville Home Burned In Two Fires

Youngsville, April 2—Two separate and distinct fires raged in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rose, of Oak street. The first fire took place on Friday morning at 11:25 and the firemen responded working for several hours before they left the scene. The fire raged through the house and when the firemen left there was little left but the blackened and charred walls. The entire contents were destroyed with very little of the furnishings saved.

The cause of the fire was not known as Mrs. Rose was at the home of a neighbor when the fire broke out. Her husband was away working. The fire in the stove was also out at the time.

Sunday morning the second fire took place the sirens sounding the alarm while the early morning church services were under way. The firemen turned out quickly but the flames had such a start that the walls were burned to the ground and the loss was a total one.

The house was owned by Earl Higgins and insured. The Rose family rented the home and carried no insurance. All of the furniture and clothing of the Rose family were lost. A paper is being circulated about the city to aid in getting a new start for the family.

Army Requests Return of All Clothing By Discharged GIs

Here's a household tip the Army issued today for discharged soldiers whose uniforms run the risk of being eaten by moths this summer.

The Third Service Command suggests that all items such as trousers, coats, overcoats, shirts and field jackets—the woolen clothing in particular—be returned to the Army for reconditioning, cleaning and reissue to GIs still in service.

Major General Philip Hayes, Commanding General, said a current program to recover uniforms held by ex-servicemen, discarded by Officer Candidate School graduates, left at home by men on furlough or in laundries and hotels would save millions of dollars and relieve the already hard-pressed woolen industry now manufacturing Army goods.

Such plants might also be permitted to return sooner to production of civilian clothing.

"Honorably discharged soldiers are allowed to retain a complete uniform when they leave the Army," General Hayes explained. However, the uniforms may be worn regularly only for a short period of time after separation from the service, and after that only on certain ceremonial occasions.

He said these men still could keep the clothing, but that they would be doing "an additional service for their country" if they would return the items to the nearest Army post. They also would save the uniforms from moths and gradual deterioration.

If boxed in a container so that the total weight of the package does not exceed 30 pounds, and addressed "Attention: Quartermaster, Clothing and Equipment Classification Officer," the parcel may be shipped collect from any railway express agency.

The Army also will gladly receive any idle clothing left at hotels, laundries or at soldiers' homes, General Hayes said. Returned uniforms will be processed at Army clothing repair shops and distributed to troops fighting overseas or training in this country.

New Drive On For Nurses In Vets Hospitals

The Civil Service Commission is launching a new drive to secure nurses for essential war service in Veterans Administration Hospitals and in other Federal hospitals. In a new folder entitled "Serve Those Who Served," just released by the Commission, the need for nurses to care for the war wounded is emphasized.

The shortage of nurses in Veterans Administration Hospitals is particularly acute. Approximately 2000 nurses are needed immediately to aid in caring for wounded servicemen and women who still require hospitalization after they have been discharged from the military service.

Civilian nurses are also needed in Army hospitals to replace the Army nurses who have gone overseas, and in U. S. Public Health Service Hospitals to care for war casualties of the Coast Guard, the Merchant Marine, the Army Engineer Corps, and the Army Transport Service.

To qualify for a nursing position in a Veterans Administration Hospital, applicants must have graduated from a recognized school of nursing, and be registered in a State or Territory, or in the District of Columbia. There are no age limits. The entrance salary is $2,190 a year for Graduate Nurse positions. Some appointments are made to positions paying $1,970 a year, but after 6 months' training successfully completed, nurses may be promoted to positions paying $2,190.

The Commission's new folder sets forth some of the advantages for nurses in the Veterans Administration Hospitals. All nurses who may be available for this important work are urged to write at once to the Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C., for a copy of the folder "Serve Those Who Served."

Senior News From Ludlow High School

Ludlow, April 2—Lyell B. Carr, supervising principal of Hamilton Township School, announces that three honor students from the Class of 1945 have been selected. They are Carol V. Carr, Louise Nelson and Phyllis Taylor Walters. As this listing is based upon record of the first seven semesters of the class, it is possible that one or two may be added when the four-year record is complete and the final ranking of the class members determined.

Selected by the faculty to represent the class as valedictorian and salutatorian are M. Louise Nelson and Phyllis Taylor Walters. During her high school enrollment, Miss Nelson has been a member of the school orchestra, accompanist for several musical entertainments and a member of the Crazy-Quilt, the official newspaper of the school. In September, 1945, she will enter Seton Hill College of Greensburg, Penna., as a member of the Freshman Class. Miss Taylor has been a member of the Crazy-Quilt staff and one of the

Plant Leaders Here Prepare For 7th War Loan Campaign

The county's first major get-together in preparation for the coming 7th War Loan is planned for 7:30 tomorrow evening at the YMCA. Under the leadership of B. V. Lessed, chairman of the War Loan Committee, members of the executive committee assigned to this division, all executive heads of Warren plants and their respective treasury representatives, have been requested to be present to receive essential information in connection with their part of the 7th War Loan.

Because many features of the coming band campaign will be different than for any past drive, it is extremely important that all those charged with the operation of the Payroll Savings Plan in local plants, attend this initial meeting to work out the plans that will enable Warren County industrial plants and their employees to meet their quotas for the "Mighty Seventh" War Loan which begins, in the plants, one week from today.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Seth have received word from their son, Pfc. Russell Seth that he is a patient in a hospital in England, that he last Saturday, much improved in health, after having been in the Zern Hospital in Erie for the past few months.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Persing received word yesterday from their son Kenneth Persing that he and his wife had arrived in Phoenix, Arizona where they expect to make their future home. Mr. Persing has gone there for his health. They were formerly of Cleveland, Ohio. His many friends here are hoping for his speedy recovery.

The Thrift Club of the Evangelical church held a very interesting meeting last week at the home of Mrs. M. E. Larsen of Warren. Mrs. Harry Thompson of Kinzua was a guest at the meeting.

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove, March 29—The Hill and Dale Garden Club, met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Delmar Mickleson with twenty-three present. Mrs. Scott Stuart presided and the meeting opened with the singing of the "Beautiful," with Harry Ludwick pianist. Roll response was Easter poems.

Irish jokes. Mrs. Frank Richmond conducted the devotions on the Easter theme. At the business meeting plans were discussed for the plant sale at the next meeting. Mrs. Mickleson announced the program. Mrs. Traverse Stohberg reviewed Bertha Damon's book, "The Sense of Humes" and Susan Summerson, sang two solos with Mrs. Kenneth Frank, accompanist. The president presented Mrs. Stohberg, with a gift in appreciation of her presenting the fine book review. Mrs. Mickleson and the assisting hostesses, Mrs. M. L. Johnson, Mrs. Harold Barnes and Mrs. Stuart served buffet refreshments from a table centered with spring flowers. Mrs. Ludwick poured.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richmond have received a communication from Louis McKay from a hospital in France telling them that he knew his buddy Pfc. Virgil Nelson was taken a prisoner on the day he was wounded, January 6th. Pfc. Nelson's parents Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson, Lander had received a message from the War Department saying he was missing in action January 6th.

Marvin Bement S 1/c has returned to New York to report for duty after spending a thirty day leave with his grandmother, Mrs. L. G. Devereaux.

Miss Elizabeth Saunders of Buffalo was the weekend guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Saunders. Other guests at the Saunders home are their three grandchildren, Mary Lou, Patty, and William Irvine of Pittsfield. Their mother Mrs. Lucile Irvine is a patient in the Warren General Hospital, recovering from an appendectomy.

LANDING ON OKINAWA

DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press War Analyst

Uncle Sam's amphibious invasion of Okinawa means that we actually have boarded an integral part of the Mikado's domain only 325 miles from the homeland—a sensational event whatever way you look at it and one which we have achieved much sooner than we had any right to expect.

That's the most significant aspect of this biggest operation of its kind seen thus far in the Pacific war. Of course, Okinawa also is of vast strategic importance, but what rings the bell is that we've flung an army of some 100,000 into a heavily populated section of Emperor Hirohito's immediate domain. That's enough to make us divide our attention for a bit between tottering Germany and the Japanese.

Some of you may recall that on March 19 this column called attention to the likelihood of a fresh invasion of Jap territory. Well, Okinawa was what I had in mind, since it was clearly marked for the kill by the tremendous aerial bombardment it had been getting—but we weren't supposed to give a name to it at that stage of operations. The fact that all this time has been devoted to intensive preparations speaks loudly for the strength of the position and the dangers of invasion.

Okinawa is an important naval and air base. It has numerous useful ports and the towns are linked by stream and electric railways. In short it is a veritable treasure island for us—or will be when we have finished the job of subduing it.

It will give us virtual control of the East China sea, and that means access to southern China. Also, Japan will have increasing difficulty in maintaining communications with her armies in southern China and with Formosa and transporting raw materials from China to Nippon.

Last—but far from least—this island will be an invaluable asset to us as an advance base when we are ready to invade the Japanese mainland. Meanwhile Okinawa's airports will make it much easier for us to fling our bombers at the mainland, and its ports will vastly facilitate the operation of Allied naval forces in neighboring waters.

AMMUNITION FOR PEACE

Most of us have come to know the usual pattern of military victory in the war against the Axis—how first the bombers and the heavy guns prepare the war, then the engineers clear the obstacles and the mines, and finally the infantry drives forward to gain and hold another mile or many miles of what had been enemy territory.

With these things accomplished, the operation, militarily, is pronounced a complete success.

But, with a view to the immediate future and the peace that is to come, is the triumph really complete?

Each such operation frees from Axis oppression and terror, hundreds or thousands of war-ravaged innocents—the men, women and children who, during the five or more years of Axis aggression, have been stripped of all they possess and whose homes are broken and ruined. Many of them are sick and starving. Some of them are naked. Virtually all of them are without sufficient clothing, shoes and bedding—the lack of which already has cost and still is costing unnumbered human lives.

Is any victory complete which does not also achieve, in some degree, the restoration of those who are to be our partners in the peace which final victory will bring?

If their ruined homes are to be rebuilt, and their ruined towns and cities—if they are to resume lives of self-supporting usefulness—if they are to be enabled to help themselves and also help us in shaping a better and more livable world—they, at least, should have sufficient clothing to cover their bodies and protect or restore their health.

Such clothing is available here in America. We do not have to strip ourselves to provide it. We merely have to visit our attics or other storage places used for our SPARE outgrown, outmoded and forgotten suits, dresses, shoes, underwear and bedding; gather up these unneeded but still serviceable things, and contribute them to the Warren Kivans Club Clothing Collection for War Relief, staged in connection with the United National Campaign being conducted this month.

Let's follow the G. I. Joes with our discarded clothes—and so make each military victory complete.

What can you spare that they can wear?

Eisenhower Backs Appeal to Scouts to Aid In Paper Drives

General Eisenhower has authorized an urgent plea to every Boy Scout to meet the "critical shortage" of waste paper.

The new drive—during March and April—is more important than the last one, as the war reaches a climax.

That is why General Eisenhower is sponsoring the campaign. He knows personally of the great need of waste paper in the war effort.

A message from the Supreme Commander, after the last paper drive, commended the Scouts with like real soldiers. This time, it is "Over the Top" again, in an hour's time, to "You came through of greatest need."

The Scouts of other nations have done, and still are doing, their share in winning the war—underground and in actual combat. The Boy Scouts of America can be expected to do their share.

"We must do our utmost until the last knock-out blow is delivered to the enemy," says J. A. Krug, chairman of the War Production Board, in a message to Dr. Eibert K. Freitwell, Chief Scout Executive.

"We again urgently request the Boy Scouts of America to expand and concentrate their efforts with a special nation-wide collection of paper. I am confident the Boy Scouts will respond with enthusiasm to meet the goal."

Last time the call was for 100,000 tons. This time it is for 150,000 tons. "To meet the paper requirements for our military and essential needs—this amount will strike another potent blow for victory," says Mr. Krug.

"We must save, collect, and move to the paper mills even greater amounts of scrap paper than before."

Two awards, to units and to individuals, will be made to those who meet their quotas.

In order to have something different and distinctive that the unit will cherish and preserve with its souvenirs through the years, a new type of recognition will be offered.

It is a shell container that was actually used on a European battlefield—a genuine veteran's shell case from the front. And it will be inscribed with a citation from General Eisenhower. Some of the shell containers will have battle-field dirt on them. They will be of the size used for a 75mm. shell or larger.

The World War II shell case will be presented to each unit which gathers an amount of waste paper equivalent to 1,000 pounds per boy member, whether each member of the unit collects that amount or not. If the unit has 22 boys, then the unit's total to qualify will be 22,000 pounds.

The individual award will be General Eisenhower campaign medals, for outstanding personal achievement, regardless of whether or not the Troop or Pack qualified for the General Eisenhower unit award.

It will be awarded to every Boy Scout, Senior Scout or Cub Scout who collects a total of 1,000 pounds during the campaign.

All paper must be collected during the campaign dates, March 1 to April 30. A report form has been sent directly to unit leaders by the National Council, which must be sent to the Local Council before May 16. This will certify the collections by individual Scouts who have earned the campaign medals, as well as report that the unit has qualified for the citation and shell case.

The War Production Board has requested Scout Executives to meet with local Salvage Committees before the campaign begins, to tie in their program and efforts with those already established and engaged in the collection of waste paper.

William O. Duntze, deputy director of the salvage division of the W.P.B., has urged regional salvage directors to cooperate with the Boy Scouts.

A bulletin from the local Council to Troop and Pack Leaders has this to say about funds accruing from the sale of waste paper:

"We hope that leaders locally will encourage Troops to use this for a worthy purpose. Such funds may help finance the Troop's camping program or secure needed equipment, or may be used for contributions to worthwhile agencies such as Red Cross, War Fund or local charities."

"Announced during Boy Scout Week the establishment of a fund to be administered by the National Council to assist in the re-establishment of the Scout Movement in the 'occupied' countries as soon as liberated and as soon as it's possible for Scouting to 'move in.'"

By EVELYN MURRAY CAMPBELL

YESTERDAY: Ned tells Cynthia that Chester Ames is about to be drafted and that is why he isn't too anxious to get a job. Carey passes the matter off and tells Cynthia she's behaving like an idiot. Edris meanwhile has been waiting hand and foot on Cynthia, happy that she has her mother all to herself once again. But Cynthia plans to have the Brandons take the garden house and thus get Carey to stay home more often. When she tells Carey of her plan, he laughs.

Chapter 19

"I'm afraid Joan couldn't accept—or wouldn't," said "Her mother has a swell place at Carmel with just about everything the doctor ordered and she's been begging the Brandons to use it but Joan wants to be with Ray more than she wants a private swimming pool. She couldn't see it any other way."

It was completely casual but Cynthia felt on the defensive.

"Ray could commute—as you do," she hated to note in her voice but it was there.

"Ray wouldn't waste the time," Carey answered briefly. "This would be out as much as Carmel. As it is, it takes him five minutes to get home against an hour to the garden house." The way he said "garden house" was smarting or sarcastic or something, whether he meant it or not.

"Oh, Carey, you're exaggerating. It never takes you an hour."

"Sometimes more, if the traffic's heavy."

Why were they arguing over footless things? Why was this guarded coolness arising both words that could so easily become sharp and hurting.

"I must get up and dress," Cynthia ordered herself, afraid, "I mustn't be a coward any more. He'll find me out. He'll know that I'm afraid of what people say—their secret smiles and criticism. Because I'm older. Because I have children—one married! Because he's young—young—young—"

She was having it out with herself now, and the truth rushed out and brought her to her feet.

"I'll dress tonight and come down to dinner," she said with completely false cheerfulness. "You must be sick of trays up here or dreary meals with—the children."

He didn't dissuade her. "That'll be fine. But don't call my dinners dreary. Peter is quite a pal. Edris keeps me at a distance though." He was merely amused by the heroics of her younger daughter.

It was better being up and around. Her body unused to inaction responded to the pleasant stir of normal living and before the end of the week she was eager to get down town and take up the reins dropped in the early summer.

Suddenly it was autumn coming like a whisper into that semitropical land. Unrest was everywhere. People didn't want to talk about insurance that wouldn't guarantee them against a war torn Pacific. They worried about their property and about invasion that seemed impossible and wasn't.

Cynthia had to make money and she went after it tooth and nail. Taxes were creeping up and so were a hundred expenses, one of them an understanding between her and Chester.

For living with the Ames' on a narrow budget and step mother he'd become intolerable for Vera who never complained but looked more hollow-eyed, more dramatic every time she appeared.

It was a simple matter to arrange with Chester who didn't mind where money came from. A smart little apartment was rented and the young ones moved in and Chester invented a story that satisfied questions if any were asked. They began to dance and play and swim just as they had always done and Vera wasn't the only school girl bride. The difference was that she only came in for dinners now and then and that expenses got heavier.

Cynthia was keeping up three establishments now and it cost money. Carey gave her a fair proportion of his salary and she took it gravely and was secretly amused by his apparent ignorance of what it took to keep up a big house—not that he should be concerned with that. It was her house, her responsibility and she had dared she would have refused his contribution entirely. But she didn't dare. Instinct saved her from such a blunder.

There was untrodden ground in Carey and once or twice she explored a little way and turned back. There were uneasy moments for her, though. He didn't mention her business again and she tried to keep it out of their lives. Not a difficult task for he left the house long before she did and she was always there, cool and freshly dressed when he returned. It looked like a good enough arrangement and she should have been happy but wasn't—quite. She was always conscious of an undercurrent that might break into the open at any moment.

In late October two things happened. Anne Holt drove down from San Francisco and parked in Vera's unused room and Chester's number came up.

Anne happened first. She had long since, by letter and telephone, forgiven Cynthia for what she called "abusing her hospitality" and it was her habit to take marriage—any marriage—lightly. "And how are the turtle doves?" Her keen cynical eyes swept Cynthia's face. "I'll be frank, though you haven't asked me to be anything. You look both older and younger, my child. The rigidity is gone but you do look burned out if you don't mind the brutal truth."

"Cynthia shrugged. "I can take it."

"You took a chance I wouldn't take" Anne went on. "Marriage with a younger man—silly, of course—but there it is. Custom, tradition, what you will, it's ingrained in women that we must be—inexperienced, led in the way we don't want to go. You simply hate yourself and feel like a fool if you do the leading. I'm glad Carey had sense enough to stick to his job and not let you ease him into the insurance business."

"Anne!" Cynthia cried out, shocked by the perspicuity of her friend. "You're insufferable!"

"I'm your best friend, darling, so of course I am—sometimes. You need a tonic."

Flattery In Felt

Felts have gone fussy and feminine this spring, as you'll see by the two flatterers toppers above. For the young in heart Dunlap designed the bright "poke" bonnet, left, with its steeple crown banded in crisp white pique and the brim trimmed with "gingerbread icing." It's perfect for soft suits now and can be worn right into summer with prints and pastels. The Knox-styled sophisticated sailor at the right, which comes in bright spring shades and summer pastels, has an unusual slashed felt trim around the abbreviated brim. The two-toned cockade and band of grosgrain gives it a dressy look.

Sgt. Regner Has Training In ATC School

The military career of T/Sgt. John C. Regner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Regner, 16 Linwood street, was advanced still further when he was named to receive specialized training at the North African Air Transport Command Division's non-commissioned officers' school at Fedala in French Morocco.

Sgt. Regner was one of the hand-picked upper-grade non-commissioned officers selected from throughout the vast North African Division to attend the school which is housed in a pre-war resort hotel, where the wealthy of France and Morocco spent their holidays.

The personal project of Brig. Gen. James S. Stowell, commanding general of the North African Division of ATC, the school's enrollment is limited to men who have "graduated with distinction" from base unit schools throughout the division.

The school, first of its kind in the entire global ATC, combines formal instruction in current events, an analytical study of the world conflict, post-war problems, military customs and traditions, and supervised and competitive sports.

Following graduation from the NCO school, Sgt. Regner returned to his duties at the ATC Air Base at Casablanca, where he is assigned as a flight traffic clerk.

Gallantry Is Rewarded By Presentation

Mrs. R. E. Billsborough recently received the Silver Star citation awarded her husband, Cpl. Billsborough, for gallantry in action with the 315th Infantry in France on January 13. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Billsborough, Pittsfield, and his wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Satterlee, of Corry. The citation reads in part:

"The group of men of a mortar platoon, with which he was serving, was surrounded in a building behind the enemy lines for two days. When the building was set on fire, the men determined to run for friendly lines, although the intensity of enemy fire left little hope of escape without heavy casualties. Heavy enemy machinegun fire wounded one of the group in their perilous flight. At the risk of almost certain death or capture, and under full observation of the enemy, Cpl. Billsborough aided the wounded man to safety. The heroic achievement of Cpl. Billsborough reflects great credit on himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

IS AT DESHON

OLD FRIEND ON RADIO PROGRAM

It was an interesting surprise to many Warren listeners last evening to hear Dr. Willem Van de Wall on the Reader's Digest program in a dramatized exposition of his world-famed music therapy methods.

An old and close friend of Dr. LeRoy B. Campbell, Dr. Van de Wall lectured in Warren a few years ago under the auspices of a community psychology class held under Dr. Campbell's guidance.

Dr. Van de Wall's work is the subject of a current Reader's Digest article, his friends will be interested to learn. After reaching the zenith of his career as the world's greatest harpist, he gave it up to return to Vienna to study under the world's leading psychologists, earned his doctorate and returned to America, where for the past decade he has demonstrated the effectiveness of music in bringing about cures and improvement in those suffering every type of mental and physical disorders and has again become world famous.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

Stewart Jacquins, baggage master at the Ferry, is up in arms over something of the imputation that Paddy Burke could do a buck and wing with a trunk on his shoulder. Stewart claims he can do it and wants us to arrange for an exhibition. . . . And George Daum recalling the entertainment staged when Company I came back from the Spanish-American War and Tracy Greenlund sang "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground." We just can't remember that one. . . . That high wind Saturday raised some Old Ned about town. One of the big bill boards on Mohawk avenue between the railroad tracks was toppled over and a big tree in the rear of Zeller's home on Water street was toppled over daily. Branches were torn off trees and shrubs about town and the damage will be considerable. . . . Bobby Jule, the young juggler who has appeared here as an entertainer at the Moose and Marconi Clubs, is preparing to go overseas as a USO entertainer. Bobby has four brothers in the service. . . . Charley Danvers in his column Pittsburghesque, this morning remarks "Lee Carter," the dancer, suffered an attack of appendicitis and had to cancel her engagement at the Marconi Club in Warren."

Paul Coe is nursing a sore arm jammed up when he fell at his wall paper emporium and paint dispensary. Says it sort of cramps his style just when all the girls are seeking wall paper to redecorate. . . . In the latest issue of "Women in Crime" the good old airport murder case is trotted out again and Mary Semick is given more publicity. . . . Many kiddies called in Saturday morning to inquire "What time is the Easter Egg Hunt?" . . . Pigeons cooing in the cupola of the Evangelical church every morning as we percolate from the police station. . . . From the look of the police docket this morning most of the folks seemed to have observed Easter in a fitting spirit. Little on the docket of an unseemly nature. . . . Traffic on the highways over the holiday was a bit heavier than usual as many had saved up their gas for a trip.

Howard Kelly, formerly of Ticonderoga but now of Franklin, mails the Tionesta Republican the following explanation of the floating island reported in the Republican several days ago:

"Dear Editor:—I just finished reading an article in the paper about an island floating down the river. I believe that I can offer you an explanation.

"For a number of years there has been a large boat lodged in the willows at the head of Baker Island. This boat was probably seventy-five feet long and thirty feet wide. At one time Wayne Cook and I were going to float it down to Tionesta, but thought that there was too much work involved to get it into the water. The boat was in good shape and there would not be any question that it would not float.

"I have been back to look at this several time since then, and the willows were then growing inside the boat. As for the evergreen trees I cannot vouch, but if I remember correctly there was one hemlock tree growing in the boat.

"Due to the heavy ice at the head of Baker Island, and the high water that we continue to have I believe that the boat could have become dislodged and floated down the river.

"The willow bushes and the hemlock tree would account for the boat might not float high enough to show from any great distance.

"I hope that this might throw some light on the Floating Island."

Despite continuing food shortages, the Agricultural Department is advising farmers to keep their stocks low, pay up debts and keep all buying at present price levels down to a minimum so they won't get caught in the coming price slump. . . . One reason for the pork shortage is that farmers were told to cut down on the pig crop. So lots of folks who customarily had ham for Easter enjoyed their hamburg. . . . Mrs. George Clark, of the Metzger-Wright office, reports that she is going to a picnic. . . . Dry cleaners enjoyed a land office business during the weeks just before Easter. . . . Constable Joe Sullivan in his shirt sleeves viewing the landscape over yesterday evening from the Revere House veranda. . . . Trains plenty crowded over the weekend with space in the buses at a premium. . . . Assemblyman Allen Gibson, of Sheffield, in town Saturday sporting some new cheaters that make him look every inch a statesman.

Well, for one thing, the hens didn't sit down for the Easter supply of hen berries for the Easter baskets. Who had all the cigarettes over the weekend? Our favorite dealer didn't even have a snipe. . . . Many of the country schools that lost a few days during the big snow opened this morning in an effort to make up a day. . . . Enoch, the office devil, is raising a mustache and he claims it's for the purpose of kissing the girls and brushing them off at the same time. . . . This Ray Bimber fellow who has all those weather jiggers for sale at his department store, must have a hunch some place, as he has been predicting snow, and now the old weatherman comes along and O. K. says the prediction. . . . Bill Chapman gets his sheepskin at Temple University Medical School and becomes a full fledged medic. . . . Congratulations!"

Says it sort of cramps his style just when all the girls are seeking wall paper to redecorate. . . . In the latest issue of "Women in Crime" the good old airport murder case is trotted out again and Mary Semick is given more publicity. . . . Many kiddies called in Saturday morning to inquire "What time is the Easter Egg Hunt?" . . . Pigeons cooing in the cupola of the Evangelical church every morning as we percolate from the police station. . . . From the look of the police docket this morning most of the folks seemed to have observed Easter in a fitting spirit. Little on the docket of an unseemly nature. . . . Traffic on the highways over the holiday was a bit heavier than usual as many had saved up their gas for a trip.

Howard Kelly, formerly of Ticonderoga but now of Franklin, mails the Tionesta Republican the following explanation of the floating island reported in the Republican several days ago:

"Dear Editor:—I just finished reading an article in the paper about an island floating down the river. I believe that I can offer you an explanation.

"For a number of years there has been a large boat lodged in the willows at the head of Baker Island. This boat was probably seventy-five feet long and thirty feet wide. At one time Wayne Cook and I were going to float it down to Tionesta, but thought that there was too much work involved to get it into the water. The boat was in good shape and there would not be any question that it would not float.

"I have been back to look at this several time since then, and the willows were then growing inside the boat. As for the evergreen trees I cannot vouch, but if I remember correctly there was one hemlock tree growing in the boat.

"Due to the heavy ice at the head of Baker Island, and the high water that we continue to have I believe that the boat could have become dislodged and floated down the river.

"The willow bushes and the hemlock tree would account for the boat might not float high enough to show from any great distance.

"I hope that this might throw some light on the Floating Island."

Despite continuing food shortages, the Agricultural Department is advising farmers to keep their stocks low, pay up debts and keep all buying at present price levels down to a minimum so they won't get caught in the coming price slump. . . . One reason for the pork shortage is that farmers were told to cut down on the pig crop. So lots of folks who customarily had ham for Easter enjoyed their hamburg. . . . ## Marion Ends Holdout; Gets a Raise; One-Legged Pitcher Hurls Hitless Relief Inning

Behind the Lines

So you think you're going to play golf? If you do, don't lose any of those precious balls or you may not play another day—the wartime athletic equipment shortage is becoming acute. If you have had in the back of your mind through the long winter months a yearning to invade the open—such as golfing, mushball, baseball, or any other outdoor pastime—then you'd better act quickly, or remove such desire from said mind. There will be no more sporting goods equipment manufactured for civilian use. Boiling that down to words means that if you can get hold of golf balls, mushballs, baseballs, bats, mitts, or any equipment, get it. Any item made of critical materials like leather, wood, textile, or rubber is rapidly disappearing from the shelves and stock rooms of sporting goods dealers.

Just a line to the hunters—if you can pick up any shells, do it; and if you have any shells, use them sparingly. The government has ordered all dealers to stop all sales of ammunition to civilians. No ammunition for the civilian users has been shipped from plants and warehouses since December, and now dealers are not permitted to sell any shells, whatsoever.

Four Oil City cagers will be inducted this week into the navy, all of whom battled the local cagers twice during the past season. The quartet is composed of giant center Jerry Wood, stellar forward Dave Pearson, Dick Stoughton, and Ed Vandenberg. All were on the starting five.

Attention Fritz Kennett: During one of the more torrid games of the recent N. C. A. A. basketball tournament Howard Cann of N. Y. U. just couldn't bear to watch any longer so he turned around, asked: "Why does anyone coach basketball?" Kentucky's Adolph Rupp, sitting behind him, commented softly: "Remember, Howard, you applied for the job." "Yes," admitted Cann, stealing another look, "but that was twenty years ago." Times have changed, haven't they?

Plans are being completed for the annual City League basketball banquet, which is to be held next Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. All league officials, players, and several others are on the attendance list.

Batting Power, Outfielders Weak as White Sox Strive to Boost Club Into First Division

By CHIP ROYAL

AP Newsfeature Sports Editor Terre Haute, Ind.—All the baseball players love a good hitter. Any and all tips are appreciated—especially if they come from a fellow who is starting his 25th year in big time.

Today's professor is Bing Miller, the bronzed White Sox coach, who smacked the old apple for 1,937 hits in 1,821 games for a major league average of .312 in 16 years as a player.

Bing was sitting in his favorite hotel lobby chair, minding his own business, when he conversed got around to the lack of good hitters.

Shortened His Bat

Taking an extravagant puff on his black after-dinner cigar, Miller gave out in his soft Iowa voice:

"I'll never forget something Sam Crawford told me in Detroit when he was winding up his career.

"Bing," he said, "I'm going to let you in on one of my secrets. I stayed around this league a good many years longer than I should because I shortened up on my bat and got those line drives. When you can't swing from the end, take up on the wood and you'll last longer."

"Well," puffs Miller, "I remembered that advice, and it paid off for me. I moved up an inch and a half on the stick and held on to my job three years after I thought I was through."

New York, April 2—(AP)—Marty Marion, ace shortstop of the National League, ended his holdout yesterday by coming to terms with the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

Marion, voted the most valuable player in the senior circuit last year, said he received a substantial salary boost.

Other training camp items: Cleveland Indians—Outfielder Pat Seerey hit ninth-inning two-run homer to beat LaFayette, Ind., semi-pros, 5-3.

Pittsburgh Pirates—Addition of Southpaw Al Getheiser, traded by Phils for Vince DiMaggio, brings Pirates' pitching staff to 12, not counting Ray Starr who has not reported.

Chicago Cubs—Regulars beat Yankees, 10-7, in final practice game before meeting Cincinnati Tuesday.

Boston Braves—After having four teeth extracted, Third Baseman Tom Nelson was expected to report today. Pitcher Al Javery may be lost for month due to wrenched muscles in pitching arm.

Boston Red Sox—Manager Joe Cronin moved practice ahead an hour so the squad will be able to watch Yankees play Giants.

Chicago White Sox—Club to play first exhibition game on Wednesday against Detroit Tigers at George Field for benefit of servicemen.

St. Louis Browns—Pitcher Tex Shirley suffered slight attack of Lumbago, missed practice.

Cincinnati Reds—Took Sunday off.

Washington Senators—Lt. Bert Shepard, who lost part of his right leg in combat, pitched one hitless inning in relief for Senators against Norfolk NTS.

New York Giants—Rookie Loren Bain, from Minneapolis, teamed with Bill Voiselle to whip Yankees, 5-1.

Brooklyn Dodgers—Rookie shortstop Tommy Brown helped Dodgers whip Montreal by starting fast doubleplay in ninth that ended game.

CHAMBERMAID SHORTAGE

Chicago, The Drake Hotel probably can field the best chambermaid basketball or football team in the business. A dozen high school, including a six foot three inch cage star and a stalwart full-back, work as maids there on Saturdays.

J. Scalise Gets Honorable Mention On AP All-State 5

Joe Scalise, veteran Warren Dragon cager who topped all opponents in the Section Two scoring department, along with taking the local honors, has been given honorable mention in the Associated Press All-State basketball team. Scalise, a three-year veteran on the Blue and White squad, caused numerous sensations during the 1944-5 season with his exceptional shooting ability, especially in the Warren Sharpsville playoff.

The first and second teams and those who received honorable mention along with Scalise follow:

ASSOCIATED PRESS ALL-STATE TEAM FOR 1945
First Team	Position	Second Team
Joseph Griggs (Mahanoy City)	Forward	Norman Ullsh (Huntingdon)
Paul Davison (Sharpsville)	Forward	Norman Schade (Langley)
Arnold Galiffe (Donora)	Center	William McClure (Pottsville)
Avillian Wanish (Allentown)	Guard	Gene Robinson (Scranton Tech)
Joseph Boguski (Plymouth)	Guard	Frank Pfeiffer (Allentown)

HONORABLE MENTION

Forwards—Henry Stofko, Pottstown; Con Fannoni, Donora; Joe Scalise, Warren; Jackie Crossin, Luzerne; Elmo Jackson, Allentown; Johnny Ballotti, Hazleton; Glenn von Stetten, Columbia; Ed Zaleski, Thorpp; Stuart Adams, Radnor, and Frank Duffy, Jr., Dunmore.

Centers—Mike Magula, Sharpsville; Joseph Porter, State College; Alvin Rose, Somerset; Henry Kuzma, Steelton; Joseph Zuravleff, Erie Tech; Joseph Lebida, Dickinson City, and Leo Skladany, Plymouth.

Guards—Pete Gerber, Weatherly; Charles Hall, Jr., Shamokin; George Waltz, Lebanon; Paul Slobozien, Johnstown; Howard Christner, Somerset.

Barons Down Hershey For 1-Game Lead

Cleveland, April 2—(AP)—Cleveland's Barons—one up but a long way to go—collide tomorrow with Hershey's Bears in the second game of the American Hockey League's Calder Cup playoff finals.

The league premiere champion Barons will skate out on the arena ice with a two-point lead as a result of their 3 to 2 victory over the Bears in Saturday's opening fracas.

But if records mean anything, the Clevelanders had better not start considering the $5,500 winner's purse in their pockets just yet.

The Barons, outplayed and outscored for more than half Saturday's game, tied the contest and then went ahead on two perfect plays in the final period while goalie Harvey Teno shut the door on the desperate Bears.

During the regular season, the Clevelanders had a fairly easy time with most of their opponents—except Hershey.

In chocolate town the Barons were able to take the measure of the Bears only once. Hershey won one and the other three contests were ties.

On their home ice, the Barons couldn't do much better against the battling Bruins. Cleveland won two out of five, tied two and lost one.

Since Hershey entered the American League in 1938, the Bears and the Barons have played 77 games and are still even—with 32 wins apiece. Thirteen other contests resulted in ties.

In this war-time series, the Calder Cup goes to the team first collecting eight points (two points for a win, one for a tie which is possible because of the amusement curfew). The series is limited to eight games. Should the teams be tied at the end of eight games, the championship would be decided by total number of goals scored.

The third and fourth games will be played in Hershey Thursday and Saturday with the teams returning here Sunday for the fifth game if necessary. If the series goes beyond five games the teams will play alternate games in Hershey and Cleveland.

Commissioner To Be Named In Two Weeks

By JIMMY JORDAN

Chicago, April 2—(AP)—Major league baseball, worried no more about the prospects of play this season, now apparently is ready to settle down and end all the speculation over a successor to the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis as its high commissioner.

In fact, President Will Harridge of the American League says it is possible a new commissioner will be named within a couple of weeks.

Harridge's statement came after a committee of four club presidents announced Saturday it was ready to recommend candidates for the office. The committee was named soon after Landis' death last November to investigate possible candidates and to submit its recommendations.

The four committeemen are Alva Bradley of the Cleveland Indians and Don Barnes of the St. Louis Browns, representing the American League, and Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals and P. K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs, representing the National League.

Penn State's first and only night football game was played against New York University in 1941.

Bill McKechnie Jr., son of the Cincinnati Reds manager, captained the Penn State baseball team in 1935.

A Bell that rings for Liberty... Every Morning

Millions of alarms have rung since our people were forced by war to clench their friendly hands into hard-hitting fists. Some of the hands were dainty and beautifully manicured . . . some were wrinkled and tired . . . but, all proved equal to the biggest job that ever faced this or any other land.

Our nation has shown that it can produce the sinews of war on a scale never believed possible before. New found energy, ingenuity and skills have given our people self-reliance. They are determined to apply themselves to the task ahead until final victory is won.

Surely, the seasoned veteran and self-disciplined civilian, working together, will master whatever problems peacetime may present. The future for America and for all of us can be as bright as we wish to make it.

People who get results agree that there is no substitute for hard work and also that recreation and relaxation are essential to accomplishment. In your well-earned leisure, select a beverage of moderation. A tall, steady glass of Budweiser is a standing invitation to make your moments of relaxation complete.

Layden Plans Mergers For Grid League

Chicago, April 2—(AP)—Professional football really is feeling the pinch of war and the manpower shortage. So much, in fact, the National Football League may be trimmed to eight clubs next fall through mergers of several teams, says league president Elmer Layden.

The proposed mergers are only in the discussion stage at present, Layden says, but the discussions may crystallize into something definite at the league meeting which opens in New York Friday. Layden feels the mergers would, as an emergency measure, be a good thing for the league, but adds that any new combines are strictly up to the club owners.

Mergers reportedly being discussed at present would have the Chicago Bears and Chicago Cardinals playing under one name next fall, Brooklyn and Boston, and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

Pittsburgh and Philadelphia combined in 1943 and enjoyed a successful season, but last year the Steeler-Cardinal combine failed to win a game.

Layden pointed out the suggested mergers, especially in the case of Pittsburgh and Brooklyn, would bring not only the squads, but also the coaching staffs, to near-normal proportions. Neither has a head coach at present. The mergers also would aid in curtailment of transportation.

NOTRE DAME WORRIED OVER COACH SCARCITY

South Bend, Ind.—Time was when spring football practice at Notre Dame brought out more than 300 hopefuls for positions on the Rambler eleven. This year there were but 54.

However, it isn't a scarcity of players that is worrying the athletic department. It's a scarcity of coaches.

Few coaching staffs ever have been broken up more quickly, or completely, than that which led the Irish last season. Within a month, head coach Ed McKeever resigned to go to Cornell; Adam Walsh joined the Cleveland Rams' staff, and Clem Crowe, who also coached job at Iowa.

PEAK OF SEASON

Miami—Sale of stamp for mailing scenic postcards is considered an accurate barometer of sightseeing crowds at Hialeah. The peak of the season was reached one Sunday when 2,700 stamps were sold for cards. Before the war single day sales reached as high as 3,500.

SHEFIELD IN 'BEEHIVE'

Salt Lake City—Fred Sheffield, one of the two survivors from the Utah cage team that won the 1944 N. C. A. A. championship, was the only athlete named this year to Beehive university honorary organization, membership to which is based on leadership and campus participation.

HAIL VICTORY ON SHELF

Miami—Calumet Farm's hopes for Hail Victory for the 1945 Kentucky Derby—should it be run—have evidently been abandoned. The son of Blenheim II has been shipped to the farm at Lexington. Trainer Ben Jones still has formidable racers in Pot O' Luck, Good Blood and Battlere.

DELIVERS THE MAIL

Bear Mountain, N. Y.—The Brooklyn Dodgers would like to see Elmer (Red) Durrett, a Guadalcanal Marine veteran, deliver the mail just as he did last winter in Dallas, Tex., where Red carried letters on an eight-mile route.

A short nose cost Alex Barth, Millbrook Stable 5-year-old, a total of $164,040 during 1944. The hardy campaigner finished second in eight stake races last season.

PITTSFIELD

Pittsfield, March 27—The following will be of special interest to the friends in Warren and vicinity of Mrs. Robert Hess the former Miss Viola Roth of Warren and niece of Mrs. E. E. Lynn of Pittsfield. Mrs. Lynn states that her niece and husband, missionaries, would be glad to hear from old friends and can be reached as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hess c/o American Red Cross Civilian War Office, Section A.P.O. San Francisco, California.

However mail is limited to letters and cards—no packages.

Note: This is a copy of a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Noah Hess from their son Robert on March 12, 1945:

Dear Dad and Mother:

Prise God, our deliverance from the hands of our oppressors was truly miraculous. The rescue was timed to the minute and just in nick of time. God is never late. The more we hear of what had been planned against our camp, the more we realize the greatness of our safety. We have suffered the loss of all things temporal, but have each other safe and sound. Lying in a ditch beside our quarters to dodge bullets, hectic packing, hurrying along the road to freedom, too weak to take our things, they were left. Again dodging Japs, then to a beach where amphibians received us to carry us to safety. Overhead planes, about us a guard, visible and God's Host (Invisible). Then to a new destination and freedom. What days of hunger we passed through last Sept. October was like a nightmare as rations were at the lowest. Our little garden helped, but by the end of Nov. our reserve Red Cross supplies were all but gone. Thanksgiving had never been such as that but Hab. 3:17 and 19 refreshed us. Early in Jan. God brought us a partial relief. Then starvation rations. Viola weighs 95 pounds and I just about 100 pounds. The children fared better losing very little, praise God. In the camp beri-beri and malnutrition evident, many deaths. But how good to again and again stand on Great promises, they never fail: God is Thy faithfulness. Then the spectacular release and back under the "Stars and Stripes," and good food. The Red Cross will probably help soon. We are quite safe and will get on until things work out as to our return to U. S. A. Victor Glenn was born in our mountain hideout near Malazal, north of Zamboanga on Aug. 12, 1942. Two Filipino nurses attended his arrival, with Miss Loptson as practical nurse caring for Viola after they left. A great event in our camp at that time.

Last April 1944 we moved to the Los Banos camp where there was a chance for gardening, less crowded conditions and more chance for family life. Children had place to play, attended school even dad and mother took in classes for awhile, but from Sept. things went from bad to worse.

Members of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Wesleyan Methodist church held an all day meeting at the parsonage. The day was spent in mending and re-mending clothes to be sent to the mountain missions.

The young married peoples Sunday school class of the Wesleyan Methodist church were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marshall.

Mrs. Steven Swenko entertained at a lovely party at the Forge club rooms in honor of her sister, Mrs. Frank Danuski.

Mrs. Arvid Johnson entertained a group of friends at her home to honor Mrs. Joyce Miller Wolfe. A pleasant evening was spent and delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Lucy Chaffee has returned to her home here after spending a pleasant winter in Florida.

Jimie Fales, who has completed his boot training at Sampson, enjoyed a furlough with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. George Fales. Donald Smith accompanied him as far as Buffalo on Saturday.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Inter who have a new little daughter.

Rev. and Mrs. Van Derlin were in Tionesta recently.

Beverly McIntyre played a piano solo at the Lenten Tea given by the Ladies' Aid of the Lutheran church.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hannold and children Roger and Dora spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman of Bear Lake.

Monday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Smith were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith, Mrs. Eleanor Foster and son Clark, Miss Geneva Jones, all of Black Ash, Pa., and Mr. Wm. Hill of Sugar Lake.

Vice-President in charge of Tomorrow !

Yes, she's a woman.

Wife. Mother. Cook. Maid of all work. Partner with her man in the going concern we Americans call home.

More than that, as keeper-of-the-household-budget, she's salting away every cent the family doesn't absolutely need for upkeep in a little project she likes to call Tomorrow.

She's putting her money in WAR BONDS . . . the soundest financial backing anyone's Tomorrow ever had.

And because she's a shrewd woman, she is determined to hold on to those War Bonds in spite of any temptation she has to cash them in.

She knows that by holding her War Bonds until they mature, they'll be worth $4 for every $3 she put into them. And she'll have that money when Tomorrow comes!

Of course, the beauty of it all is that, in the meantime, she's giving her country patriotic help in winning the war today!

Smart woman! America needs millions like her.

Water NOT Over the Dam

U. S. First Army's surprise capture of the huge Eder dam, above, on the Weiser River near Kassel, was one of the outstanding tactical victories on the Western Front. So suddenly was it taken that the Germans were unable to demolish it and unleash its 336,000,000 tons of water, which would have flooded route to Berlin.

U. S. Third Army Fight Into
Kassel, Fulda With Units
Within 155 Miles of Berlin

closed yesterday by the First and Ninth armies.

Even as the fate of this whole fighting force was sealed, Gen. Eisenhower's communique in an unusual revelation of the course of the developing campaign declared flatly that the cleanup "will not preclude the advance of Allied armored columns farther into Germany."

That swift advance was well underway.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army had armor less than 160 miles from the battered capital of Germany. Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch had Seventh Army tanks within 45 miles of the Nazi congress city of Nuremberg (Pop. 431,000—where he could cut one of the two main trunklines from Berlin through Munich to the Brenner Pass.

Third Army tanks raced to within three miles of Eisenach and 96 of Leipzig in their eastward drive across the waist of Germany.

A security blackout still veiled the surging advances of the British Second Army toward north German ports, but Berlin said the Tommies had advanced more than 35 miles past the Westphalian capital of Munster to a point south of Bielefeld (128,700). There the British would be 200 miles from Berlin, 128 southwest of Hamburg (1,918,000) and 62 southwest of Hannover (472,500).

The Third Army drive across the waist of Germany was bisecting the Reich and had reached within a half hour flying time of the Russians.

Germany army Group B was composed of the Fifth Panzer army and the 16th Army. Picketed along with these were a number of divisions of the First Parachute army as well as thousands of static and organizational troops. The loss of the Ruhr was a catastrophe for Germany, Eisenhower's deputy, Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, said in October that Germany would be defeated within 60 days after that great industrial region was lost.

The Germans' army Group H in Holland was reported pulling out of that low country because of the hourly increasing threat that Field Marshal Montgomery's drive north of the Ruhr would spring another trap. Disorganized army Group G in the south was reeling back into central Germany.

The backdoor of the Ruhr was slammed shut by the Second and Third armored divisions at Lippstadt. Paderborn, 18 miles to the east, (38,000) fell.

The first probings of the trapped Germans was felt northwest of Frankenberg. The enemy was searching for a thin spot but there seemed little chance that he could muster the force or achieve the mobility for a major break.

Mass Atrocities Are Reported Peace Threat

Stockholm, April 2—(P)—The Free German Press Agency said today without confirmation from any source and without giving authority for its statement that Hitler plans the mass murder of Allied prisoners of war, hostages from occupied lands and the remaining Jews if his "last proposals for a humane peace" are rejected.

(The Stockholm bureau of the P transmitted this dispatch "for information." It says it can not vouch for the reliability of the Free German Press Agency's reports.)

negotiations here this week, the United Mine Workers and coal operators will be engaged in contract discussions covering virtually all the nation's coal fields.

Anthracite producers meet today to make preparations for the negotiating sessions while the 36-man UMW wage scale committee will convene just before the first joint meeting Wednesday to complete their demands.

Meanwhile, the month-old bituminous coal discussions are proceeding in Washington.

The UMW and anthracite operators will negotiate for a new two-year contract covering approximately 65,000 Pennsylvania miners.

V-E Day Committee to Hold Meeting Friday Evening

A meeting of the Warren Committee for V-E Day Celebration has been called for Friday evening at eight o'clock at the Moose club, and it is the hope of the executive committee that all members, who will receive cards reminding of the event, will be on hand.

At that time there will be a general checkup of the plans as adopted last summer after the invasion of France, which includes an organized program for the day and evening after the news of capitulation or surrender is received.

It will be recalled that it was decided that upon that when official announcement of capitulation is received in Warren all whistles including sirens will be blown and church bells will be rung for five minutes. The Times-Mirror will be the authority for the news flash. U. S. flags should be displayed as soon as possible on every business establishment and home in Warren.

The executive committee meeting frequently during the past six months, held a session Friday evening when reports were received from the various committee chairmen.

The immediate reaction to the news of the surrender will be one of thanksgiving. So, the first arrangement will be to have all churches open for those who desire to return thanks for the cessation of this part of the hostilities.

Further details regarding the plans will be outlined after the meeting Friday evening, unless events should justify calling the committee together earlier than that date.

HORSE-MOUNTED

Russia still maintains a large number of horse-mounted troops. Being the only country still to use horse-mounted troops in battle hasn't proven a disadvantage for Russia. The ability of these troops to make use of the tactical advantages of mobility and shock has often proved itself to be too much for enemy soldiers to face.

Pennsy Spends Heavily Along Local Division

During the past few months the Pennsylvania railroad has been literally pouring out money on this division. Due to the heavy war traffic a great strain has been put on tracks, bridges and rolling stock and repairs have been a big item.

Laying of heavier rails between Erie and Emporium is going forward steadily and the work has been carried forward in good shape. For some weeks passed the track laying crew has been located at Sheffield but last Saturday was moved to Kane. The crew carries a large amount of paraphernalia and numbers about 100 men. They will be located at Kane for some time and work out of that town.

Another crew of carpenters is located at Johnsonburg where they are making repairs to tracks torn up by the grain train wreck of last week and also rebuilding a small bridge which was torn out in the wreck. Numbers of the damaged grain cars are on a siding at Johnsonburg.

With settled weather due there will be many other repair jobs undertaken and the supervisors will have a busy summer getting tracks in shape for the handling of the heavy ore shipments that will soon be coming down the lakes. Navigation on the great lakes has been opened and fleets of empty boats are now going up the lake for cargoes of grain and ore.

FARM NEWS

Lengthen Dairy Rotation—Lengthening the dairy farm rotation to provide more and better pasture and hay will help improve the dairy farmer's situation in the post-war period when competition probably will be keener and prices lower, explains J. B. Dickey, extension agronomist at the Pennsylvania State College.

Plant Strawberries Early—Set strawberry plants as soon as the soil is in condition, advises J. L. McCartney, fruit extension specialist at the Pennsylvania State College. It isn't necessary to wait until the danger of frost is past. More growers will be using their own plants since commercial stock is short.

PITTSFIELD

Pittsfield, March 29.—Our Boys Service Club met in the Pittsfield school on Monday evening. John S. Smith presided at the business meeting, games were enjoyed. Mrs. Ford Osgood and Mrs. Albin Abraham with their committee were in charge of refreshments.

Senior Girl Scouts of Troop 16 met at the home of their new leader, Mrs. Metro Teconchuk on Monday evening. Visitors were Mrs. A. N. Correll, Girl Scout Executive Secretary of Warren, Mrs. H. G. Franklin of the Scout Committee, Mrs. Eleanor Foster and Miss Geneva Jones of Black Ash, guests of Mrs. Margaret Smith, the former leader of the troop.

Members of the Troop presented Mrs. Smith with a lovely gift to show their appreciation of all she had done for them.

Beverly McIntyre entertained the Troop at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley McIntyre and Priscilla Thompson was hostess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Thompson. At this meeting plans were made for the new afghan which the troop will make. At the meeting at the home of Mildred Danilson the afghan which had been given to the Red Cross was returned because it must be made larger to be regulation size.

On Saturday evening the Boy Scouts of Troop 29 entertained in the U. B. church parlors at a farewell party honoring Scout Ernest McGraw who will leave this week for the navy. Guests were Senior Girl Scouts of Troop 16. Following games a delicious supper was served in the church dining room. Scouts and their parents extend thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Leason Hannold who did so much to make the party a success.

Theo Franklin has been in the Warren General Hospital under observation. Best wishes for a speedy return to health.

Nurse Cadet, Veronica McGraw spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. Mary B. McGraw and brother Ernest McGraw, who has enlisted in the navy.

Mrs. Marian Baxter and Miss Pearl McIntyre of Warren spent a few days with their parents to help celebrate the birthday of their mother, Mrs. Clair McIntyre with a family supper party. The table was attractively decorated in pink and white, centered with a lovely birthday cake trimmed with pink roses. Mrs. McIntyre received many lovely gifts and cards.

We are again enjoying spring weather. The snow and sleet of last week did more damage to the trees in this locality than all the snow of the winter. In spite of the heavy snow of the winter the deer seem well fed, as many have enjoyed seeing large numbers in the evening feeding on wheat fields near the highway. Metro Teconchuk wished for his camera when he counted 47 deer in a group who were feeding near the road as he was returning from work. Metro also reports that his father, Mr. Pete Teconchuk had been putting hay out for the deer all winter when they came to his farm daily to find food.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Smith were guests at a dinner on Friday evening given by Mr. and Mrs. Ward Holder of Diamond, Pa., to honor the 47th Wedding Anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Holder of Chapmanville, Pa. on Saturday they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith of Black Ash.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Smith were Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Holder of Chapmanville and Mrs. Smith's brother, Rev. J. Norman Holder of Sheakleyville.

Mrs. L. J. Elgin, Mrs. Garner Wilcox, Mrs. Metro Teconchuk, Mrs. Arvid Johnson and Mrs. T. Avery were the local workers on the Red Cross War Fund Drive.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to Mrs. Audrey Smith of Sheakleyville.

It takes 24,483 Freight Cars to put this War Materiel aboard a big Convoy

The figures relating to materiel—(from Army and Navy sources)—give a good idea of the enormous quantities carried by a big convoy on a crossing to one of the major war zones.

The other figures—those in italics—show the number of freight cars needed to transport those war supplies to port. Collecting all that materiel—bringing it hundreds, even thousands of miles—delivering it to ship side on schedule, in a pre-arranged order—doing it day after day—is one of the biggest and most responsible jobs railroads have.

Yet, thanks to the magnificent cooperation of the Navy, the Army, port authorities, shippers and traveling Americans—the railroads are doing this vital job smoothly and methodically—and will continue to do so till Victory is won!

Relative Of Local Man Is War Casualty

Information has just reached us that Edward Rashid, Alexander Rashid's cousin, was killed in action on two Jima, the 27th of February.

Veteran of 15 months of fighting in the Pacific area, Edward took part in four island invasions, the fourth being two Jima. One of his two brothers, Major Ralph Rashid, is in the present drive in Germany. The other, Paul, is now in a California hospital receiving treatment for injuries he suffered in the Tarawa battle, when he and four companions exposed themselves at close quarters to heavy machine-gun fire, thereby opening the way for the demolition crew to destroy a huge bomb-proof shelter which had stalled the advance of the Marines for two days.

The last letter received from Edward was mailed on the 9th of February. In it he said: "At the present time we are aboard ship heading for another invasion. I cannot write the name of the place we are going to, but you will see it in the papers before you get this letter. The reason I am allowed to tell you we are on our way to another island is because our mail will not be sent to the States until after we have landed. So, watch the papers and you'll know where we are."

Edward joined the Marines in 1941, trained at Parris Island, S. C., and had been overseas since December 1943.

Hanson Hurt; Car Crashes Into His Truck

Marshall Hanson, 215 Onondaga avenue suffered some severe hurts to his shoulder and side and Dick Scallie, also of Onondaga avenue had a bump on the head sustained in a motor crash Saturday night. Hanson was driving a panel truck owned by Sherman Offelie and was making a delivery of flowers on Conewango avenue between Roy and Pioneer streets. As the truck was parked it was struck by a Pontiac sedan driven by Raymond E. Nelson, 523 Conewango avenue who was driving south on Conewango avenue.

Police investigated and just what the outcome will be is not known as Nelson carries no insurance.

Hanson was given medical treatment and it was found that a bone in his left shoulder has been splintered.

Weather Cooperated 100% With Easter in This City

Easter in Warren was a magnificent day with plenty of warm air and the mercury at a point where heavy clothing could be cast aside. It was centered most properly around the religious features of the day and every church had an unusually large attendance at all services. There were many unusual musical and other features and in many of the houses of God the floral offerings were in memory of persons who have passed away.

The Easter fashion parade was also out of the ordinary and carried out reports that the stores in the city had enjoyed a wonderful pre-Easter business. Warren folk were handsomely gowned and the beautiful spring colors added much to the beauty of the picture as the churches discharged their large congregations.

The weather was all that could have been wished with the mercury close to 65 and the sun bright and warm. There was no chill in the breezes that blew during the day and Warren's streets were busy with animated, well groomed groups.

Many had guests over the holidays and scores enjoyed tours to neighboring cities and motor traffic was perhaps the heaviest it has been through the city in many months.

Darling Jewelry Store Will Be Host to High School Grads

Youngsville Home Burned In Two Fires

Youngsville, April 2—Two separate and distinct fires raged in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rose, of Oak street. The first fire took place on Friday morning at 11:25 and the firemen responded working for several hours before they left the scene. The fire raged through the house and when the firemen left there was little left but the blackened and charred walls. The entire contents were destroyed with very little of the furnishings saved.

The cause of the fire was not known as Mrs. Rose was at the home of a neighbor when the fire broke out. Her husband was away working. The fire in the stove was also out at the time.

Sunday morning the second fire took place the sirens sounding the alarm while the early morning church services were under way. The firemen turned out quickly but the flames had such a start that the walls were burned to the ground and the loss was a total one.

The house was owned by Earl Siggins and insured. The Rose family rented the home and carried no insurance. All of the furniture and clothing of the Rose family were lost. A paper is being circulated about the city to aid in getting a new start for the family.

Army Requests Return of All Clothing By Discharged GIs

Here's a household tip the Army issued today for discharged soldiers whose uniforms run the risk of being eaten by moths this summer.

The Third Service Command suggests that all items such as trousers, coats, overcoats, shirts and field jackets—the woolen clothing in particular—be returned to the Army for reconditioning, cleaning and reissue to GIs still in service.

Major General Philip Hayes, Commanding General, said a current program to recover uniforms held by ex-servicemen, discarded by Officer Candidate School graduates, left at home by men on furlough or in laundries and hotels would save millions of dollars and relieve the already hard-pressed woolen industry now manufacturing Army goods.

Such plants might also be permitted to return sooner to production of civilian clothing.

"Honorable discharged soldiers are allowed to retain a complete uniform when they leave the Army," General Hayes explained. However, the uniforms may be worn regularly only for a short period of time after separation from the service, and after that only on certain ceremonial occasions.

He said these men still could keep the clothing, but that they would be doing "an additional service for their country" if they would return the items to the nearest Army post. They also would save the uniforms from moths and gradual deterioration.

If boxed in a container so that the total weight of the package does not exceed 30 pounds, and addressed "Attention: Quartermaster, Clothing and Equipment Classification Officer," the parcel may be shipped collect from any railway express agency.

The Army also will gladly receive any idle clothing left at hotels, laundries or at soldiers' homes, General Hayes said. Returned uniforms will be processed at Army clothing repair shops and distributed to troops fighting overseas or training in this country.

New Drive On For Nurses In Vets Hospitals

The Civil Service Commission is launching a new drive to secure nurses for essential service in Veterans Administration Hospitals and in other Federal hospitals. In a new folder entitled "Serve Those Who Served," just released by the Commission, the need for nurses to care for the war wounded is emphasized.

The shortage of nurses in Veterans Administration Hospitals is particularly acute. Approximately 2000 nurses are needed immediately to aid in caring for wounded servicemen and women who still require hospitalization after they have been discharged from the military service.

Civilian nurses are also needed in Army hospitals to replace the Army nurses who have gone overseas, and in U. S. Public Health Service Hospitals to care for war casualties of the Coast Guard, the Merchant Marine, the Army Engineer Corps, and the Army Transport Service.

To qualify for a nursing position in a Veterans Administration Hospital, applicants must have graduated from a recognized school of nursing, and be registered in a State or Territory, or in the District of Columbia. There are no age limits. The entrance salary is $2,190 a year for Graduate Nurse positions. Some appointments are made to positions paying $1,970 a year, but after 6 months' training successfully completed, nurses may be promoted to positions paying $2,190.

The Commission's new folder sets forth some of the advantages for nurses in the Veterans Administration Hospitals. All nurses who may be available for this important work are urged to write at once to the Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C., for a copy of the folder "Serve Those Who Served."

Senior News From Ludlow High School

Ludlow, April 2—Lyell B. Carr, supervising principal of Hamilton Township School, announces that three honor students from the Class of 1945 have been selected. They are Carol V. Carr, Louise Nelson and Phyllis Taylor Walters.

As this listing is based upon record of the first seven semesters of the class, it is possible that one or two may be added when the four-year record is complete and the final ranking of the class members determined.

Selected by the faculty to represent the class as valedictorian and salutatorian are M. Louise Nelson and Phyllis Taylor Walters. During her high school enrollment, Miss Nelson has been a member of the school orchestra, accompanist for several musical entertainments and a member of the Crazy-Quilt, the official newspaper of the school. In September, 1945, she will enter Seton Hill College of Greensburg, Penna., as a member of the Freshman Class. Miss Taylor has been a member of the Crazy-Quilt staff and one of the

WAR IN THE AMERICAN UNDERGROUND

THE thousands of miles of petroleum pipelines are an American underground supporting the network pour millions of barrels of war-vital petroleum products.

To keep these supplies rolling to our fighting men, a silent war constantly is going on within the steel arteries of the underground.

Here the enemies are water and oxygen. Some infiltration by these saboteurs can't be avoided. Once in, they set to work . . . forming rust . . . corroding the pipes. Unchecked, this would mean a line operating far below efficiency . . . a fouled and dwindling petroleum stream.

Atlantic's fight with the corroding foes began with completion of first sections of its 820-mile Philadelphia-Pittsburgh-Buffalo pipeline in 1931.

From the strainers of a single pumping station, tons of rust were removed. But Atlantic maintained men were hard at work developing scrapers . . . Atlantic researchers were rushing pilot plant experiments on a rust preventive.

Research came up with a sodium chromate solution that was a "solution" in both senses of the word. It is injected into the pipeline—I pint per 19,000 gallons of petroleum products pumped. It does not affect petroleum quality. But it reduces corrosion so successfully that the scrapers now bring in only negligible amounts of rust.

Today, too, this rust preventive is combating corrosion in the "Little Big Inch" pipeline from Texas to New Jersey which began operation in January, 1944. As one of eleven oil companies managing and operating the "Little Big Inch" anti-rust process to this operation.

So another of Atlantic's peacetime developments is serving the nation in the war effort. Today Atlantic products to serve you in peace.

Plant Leaders Here Prepare For 7th War Loan Campaign

The county's first major get-together in preparation for the coming 7th War Loan campaign will be for 7:30 tomorrow evening at the YMCA. Under the leadership of B. V. Lessed, chairman of the Warren County War Finance Committee Payroll Savings Division, and Harry W. Conar, member of the executive committee assigned to this division, all executive heads of treasury representatives, have been requested to be present to receive essential information in connection with their part of the 7th War Loan.

Because many features of the coming band campaign will be different than for any past drive, it is extremely important that all those charged with the operation of the Payroll Savings Plan in local plants, attend this initial meeting to work out the plans that will enable Warren County industrial plants and their employees to meet their quotas for the "Mighty Seventh" War Loan which begins, in the plants, one week from today.

Bud Larsen who has been in the service in the Pacific is spending his furlough with his parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Messersmith from Sharon visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Seth have received word from their son, Pfc. Russell Seth that he is a patient in a hospital in England, they also received a card from the War Dept. telling them that he was making normal improvement.

Friends of little Anna Marie Anderson will be pleased to learn that she returned to her home here last Saturday, much improved in health, after having been a patient in the Zern Hospital in Erie for the past few months.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Persing received word yesterday from their son Kenneth Persing that he and his wife had arrived in Phoenix, Arizona where they expect to make their future home. Mr. Persing has gone there for his health. They were formerly of Cleveland, Ohio. His many friends here are hoping for his speedy recovery.

LANDING ON OKINAWA

DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press War Analyst

Uncle Sam's amphibious invasion of Okinawa means that we actually have boarded an integral part of the Mikado's domain only 325 miles from the homeland—a sensational event whatever way you look at it and one which we have achieved much sooner than we had any right to expect.

That's the most significant aspect of this biggest operation of its kind seen thus far in the Pacific war. Of course, Okinawa also is of vast strategic importance, but what rings the bell is that we've flung an army of some 100,000 into a heavily populated section of Emperor Hirohito's immediate domain. That's enough to make us divide our attention for a bit between tottering Germany and the Japanese.

Some of you may recall that on March 19 this column called attention to the likelihood of a fresh invasion of Jap territory. Well, Okinawa was what I had in mind, since it was clearly marked for the kill by the tremendous aerial bombardment it had been getting—but we weren't supposed to give a name to it at that stage of operations. The fact that all this time has been devoted to intensive preparations speaks loudly for the strength of the position and the dangers of invasion.

Okinawa is an important naval and air base. It has numerous useful ports and the towns are linked by stream and electric railways. In short it is a veritable treasure island for us—or will be when we have finished the job of subduing it.

It will give us virtual control of the East China sea, and that means access to southern China. Also, Japan will have increasing difficulty in maintaining communications with her armies in southern China and with Formosa and transporting raw materials from China to Nippon.

Last—but far from least—this island will be an invaluable asset to us as an advance base when we are ready to invade the Japanese mainland. Meanwhile Okinawa's airports will make it much easier for us to fling our bombers at the mainland, and its ports will vastly facilitate the operation of Allied naval forces in neighboring waters.

AMMUNITION FOR PEACE

Most of us have come to know the usual pattern of military victory in the war against the Axis—how first the bombers and the heavy guns prepare the war, then the engineers clear the obstacles and the mines, and finally the infantry drives forward to gain and hold another mile or many miles of what had been enemy territory.

With these things accomplished, the operation, militarily, is pronounced a complete success.

But, with a view to the immediate future and the peace that is to come, is the triumph really complete?

Each such operation frees from Axis oppression and terror, hundreds or thousands of war-ravaged innocents—the men, women and children who, during the five or more years of Axis aggression, have been stripped of all they possess and whose homes are broken and ruined. Many of them are sick and starving. Some of them are naked. Virtually all of them are without sufficient clothing, shoes and bedding—the lack of which already has cost and still is costing unnumbered human lives.

Is any victory complete which does not also achieve, in some degree, the restoration of those who are to be our partners in the peace which final victory will bring?

If their ruined homes are to be rebuilt, and their ruined towns and cities—if they are to resume lives of self-supporting usefulness—if they are to be enabled to help themselves and also help us in shaping a better and more livable world—they, at least, should have sufficient clothing to cover their bodies and protect or restore their health.

Such clothing is available here in America. We do not have to strip ourselves to provide it. We merely have to visit our attics or other storage places used for our SPARE outfit, outmoded and forgotten suits, dresses, shoes, underwear and bedding; gather up these unneeded but still serviceable things, and contribute them to the Warren Kiwanis Club Clothing Collection for War Relief, staged in connection with the United National Campaign being conducted this month.

Let's follow the G. I. Joes with our discarded clothes—and so make each military victory complete.

What can you spare that they can wear?

Eisenhower Backs Appeal to Scouts to Aid in Paper Drives

General Eisenhower has authorized an urgent plea to every Boy Scout to meet the "critical shortage" of waste paper.

The drive—more important than the last one, as the war reaches a climax.

That is why General Eisenhower is sponsoring the campaign. He knows personally of the great need of waste paper in the war effort.

A message from the Supreme Commander, after the last paper drive, commended the Scouts with like real soldiers. This time, it is "Over the Top" again, in an hour this tribute: "You came through of greatest need."

The Scouts of other nations have done, and still are doing, their share in winning the war—underground and in actual combat. The Boy Scouts of America can be expected to do their share.

"We must do our utmost until the last knock-out blow is delivered to the enemy," says J. A. Krug, chairman of the War Production Board, in a message to Dr. Elbert K. Fretwell, Chief Scout Executive.

"We again urgently request the Boy Scouts of America to expand and concentrate their efforts with a special nation-wide collection of paper. I am confident the Boy Scouts have the courage and resolution to meet the goal."

Last time the call was for 100,000 tons. This time it is for 150,000 tons. "To meet the paper requirements for our military and essential needs—this amount will strike another potent blow for victory," says Mr. Krug.

"We must save, collect, and move to the paper mills even greater amounts of scrap paper than before!"

Two awards, to units and to individuals, will be made to those who meet their quotas.

In order to have something different and distinctive that the unit will cherish and preserve with its souvenirs through the years, a new type of recognition will be offered.

It is a shell container that was actually used on a European battlefield—a genuine veteran battle case from the front. And it will be inscribed with a citation from General Eisenhower. Some of the shell containers will have battle-field dirt on them. They will be of the size used for a 75mm. shell or larger.

The World War II shell case will be presented to each unit which gathers an amount of waste paper equivalent to 1,000 pounds per boy member, whether each member of the unit collects that amount or not. If the unit has 22 boys, then the unit's total to qualify will be 22,000 pounds.

The individual award will be General Eisenhower campaign medals, for outstanding personal achievement, regardless of whether or not the Troop or Pack qualified for the General Eisenhower unit award.

It will be awarded to every Boy Scout, Senior Scout or Cub Scout who collects a total of 1,000 pounds during the campaign.

All paper must be collected during the campaign dates, March 1 to April 30. A report form has been sent directly to unit leaders by the National Council, which must be sent to the Local Council before May 16. This will certify the collections by individual Scouts who have earned the campaign medals, as well as report that the unit has qualified for the citation and shell case.

The War Production Board has requested Scout Executives to meet with local Salvage Committees before the campaign begins, to tie in their program and efforts with those already established and engaged in the collection of waste paper.

William O. Duntze, deputy director of the salvage division of the WPB, has urged regional salvage directors to cooperate with the Boy Scouts.

A bulletin from the local Council to Troop and Pack Leaders has this to say about funds accruing from the sale of waste paper:

"We hope that leaders locally will encourage Troops to use this for a worthy purpose. Such funds may help finance the Troop's camping program or secure needed equipment, or may be used for contributions to worthwhile agencies such as Red Cross, War Fund or local charities."

"Announced during Boy Scout Week the establishment of a fund to be administered by the National Council to assist in the re-establishment of the Scout Movement in the 'occupied' countries as soon as liberated and as soon as it's possible for Scouting to 'move in.'"

"Here's a Good Turn of International significance. Every Scout, Cub, and Cub Leader has the opportunity to contribute."

The Local Council's Executive Board urged each Troop and Pack, during the months of March and April, "collect twice as much waste paper as usual. . . . Give half the proceeds to the World Friendship Fund."

YESTERDAY: Ned tells Cynthia that Chester Armes is about to be drafted and that is why he isn't too anxious to get a job. Carey passes the matter off and tells Cynthia she's behaving like an idiot. Edris meanwhile has been waiting hand and foot on Cynthia, happy that she has her mother all to herself once again. But Cynthia has to have the Brandons take the garden house and thus get Carey to stay home more often. When she tells Carey of her plan, he laughs.

Chapter 19

"I'm afraid Joan couldn't accept—or wouldn't," he said. "Her mother has a swell place at Carmel with just about everything the doctor ordered and she's been begging the Brandons to use it but Joan wants to be with Ray more than she wants a private swimming pool. She couldn't see it any other way."

It was completely casual but Cynthia felt on the defensive. "Ray could commute—as you do." She hated the note in her voice but it was there.

"Ray wouldn't waste the time," Carey answered briefly. "This would be out as much as Carmel. As it is, it takes him five minutes to get home against an hour to the garden house." The way he said "garden house" was smarting or sarcastic or something, whether he meant it or not.

"Oh, Carey, you're exaggerating. It never takes you an hour."

"Sometimes more, if the traffic's heavy."

Why were they arguing over footless things? Why was this guarded coolness arming both words that could so easily become sharp and hurting?

"I must get up and dress," Cynthia ordered herself, afraid. "I mustn't be a coward any more. He'll find me out. He'll know that I'm afraid of what people say—their secret smiles and criticism. Because I'm older. Because I have children—one married! Because he's young—young—youth."

She was having it out with herself now, and the "ruth" rushed out and brought her to her feet. "I'll dress tonight and come down to dinner," she said with completely false cheerfulness. "You must be sick of trays up here, or dreary meals with—the children."

He didn't dissuade her. "That'll be fine. But don't call my dinners dreary. Peter is quite a pal. Edris keeps me at a distance though." He was merely amused by the heroics of her younger daughter.

It was better being up and around. Her body unused to inaction responded to the pleasant stir of normal living and before the end of the week she was eager to get down town and take up the reins dropped in the early summer.

Suddenly it was autumn coming like a whisper into that semi-tropic land. Unrest was everywhere. People didn't want to talk about insurance that wouldn't guarantee them against a war torn Pacific. They worried about their property and about invasion that seemed impossible and wasn't.

Cynthia had to make money and she went after it tooth and nail. Taxes were creeping up and so were a hundred expenses, one of them an understanding between her and Chester.

For living with the Armes' on a narrow budget and step mother had become intolerable for Vera who never complained but looked more holiday-eyed, more dramatic every time she appeared.

It was a simple matter to arrange with Chester who didn't mind where money came from. A smart little apartment was rented and the young ones moved in and Chester invented a story that satisfied questions if any were asked. They began to dance and play and swim just as they had always done and Vera wasn't the only school girl bride. The difference was that she only came in for dinners now and then and that expenses got heavier.

Cynthia was keeping up three establishments now and it cost money. Carey gave her a fair proportion of his salary and she took it gratefully. She was secretly amused by his apparent ignorance of what it took to keep up a big house—not that he should be concerned with that. It was her house, her responsibility and she had dared she would have refused his contribution entirely. But she didn't dare. Instinct saved her from such a blunder.

There was untrodden ground in Carey and once or twice she explored a little way and turned back. There were uneasy moments for her, though. He didn't mention her business again and she tried to keep it out of their lives, not a difficult task for he left the house long before she did and she was always there, cool and freshly dressed when he returned. It looked like a good enough arrangement and she should have been happy but wasn't quite. She was always conscious of an undercurrent that might break into the open at any moment.

In late October two things happened. Anne Holt drove down from San Francisco and parked in Vera's unused room and Chester's number came up.

Anne happened first. She had long since, by letter and telephone, forgiven Cynthia for what she called "abusing her hospitality" and it was her habit to take marriage—any marriage—lightly. "And how are the turtle doves?" Her keen cynical eyes swept Cynthia's face. "I'll be frank, though you haven't asked me to be anything. You look both older and younger, my child. The rigidity is gone but you do look burned out if you don't mind the brutal truth."

Cynthia shrugged. "I can take it." "You took a chance I wouldn't take" Anne went on. "Marriage with a younger man—silly, of course—but there it is. Custom, tradition, what you will, it's ingrained in women that we must be—inexperienced, led in the way we don't want to go. You simply hate yourself and feel like a fool if you do the leading. I'm glad Carey had sense enough to stick to his job and not let you ease him into the insurance business."

"Anne!" Cynthia cried, shocked by the perspicuity of her friend. "You're insufferable!"

"I'm your best friend, darling, so of course I am—sometimes. You need a tonic."

ment in the "occupied" countries as soon as liberated and as soon as it's possible for Scouting to "move in."

"Here's a Good Turn of International significance. Every Scout, Cub, and Cub Leader has the opportunity to contribute."

The Local Council's Executive Board urged each Troop and Pack, during the months of March and April, "collect twice as much waste paper as usual. . . . Give half the proceeds to the World Friendship Fund."

Flattery In Felt

Felts have gone fussy and feminine this spring, as you'll see by the two flatterers above. For the young in heart Dunlap designed the bright "poke" bonnet, left, with its steeple crown banded in crisp white pique and the brim trimmed with "gingerbread icing." It's perfect for soft suits now and can be worn right into summer with prints and pastels. The Knox-styled sophisticated sailor at the right, which comes in bright spring shades and summer pastels, has an unusual slashed felt trim around the abbreviated brim. The two-toned cockade and band of grosgrain gives it a dressy look.

Sgt. Regner Has Training In ATC School

The military career of T/Sgt. John C. Regner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Regner, 16 Linwood street, was advanced still further when he was named to receive specialized training at the North African Air Transport Command Division's non-commissioned officers' school at Fedala in French Morocco.

Sgt. Regner was one of the hand-picked upper-grade non-commissioned officers selected from throughout the vast North African Division to attend the school which is housed in a pre-war resort hotel, where the wealthy of France and Morocco spent their holidays.

The personal project of Brig. Gen. James S. Stowell, commanding general of the North African Division of ATC, the school's enrollment is limited to men who have "graduated with distinction" from base unit schools throughout the division.

The school, first of its kind in the entire global ATC, combines formal instruction in current events, an analytical study of the world conflict, post-war problems, military customs and traditions, and supervised and competitive sports.

Following graduation from the NCO school, Sgt. Regner returned to his duties at the ATC Air Base at Casablanca, where he is assigned as a flight traffic clerk.

Gallantry Is Rewarded By Presentation

Mrs. R. E. Billsborough recently received the Silver Star citation awarded her husband, Cpl. Billsborough, for gallantry in action with the 35th Infantry in France on January 13. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Billsborough, Pittsfield, and his wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Satterlee, of Corry. The citation reads in part:

"The group of men of a mortar platoon, with which he was serving, was surrounded in a building behind the enemy lines for two days. When the building was set on fire, the men determined to run for friendly lines, although the intensity of enemy fire left little hope of escape without heavy casualties. Heavy enemy machinegun fire wounded one of the group in their perilous flight. At the risk of almost certain death or capture, and under full observation of the enemy, Cpl. Billsborough aided the wounded man to safety. The heroic achievement of Cpl. Billsborough reflects great credit on himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

Special Services For Easter Sunday At First Baptist

Two special services were held yesterday at the First Baptist church, the Easter community sunrise service at 6:30 and the evening service at 7:30.

Over 200 attended the sunrise service, which was sponsored by the Warren Christian Youth Council. Dr. G. B. Williamson, president of the Eastern Nazarene College, gave the address. His subject being, "The Pilgrim Christ."

Special numbers were given by the Crusader Quartet, of the Eastern Nazarene College, and Jackson Barrell, minister of music at the First Presbyterian church. "The Watchers," a dramatized worship service, was presented by council members. Following the service, breakfast was served.

A large group attended the cantata-drama service in the evening. Both the senior and junior choirs, under the direction of Miss Viola Lindmark and Mrs. Herbert Harris, participated. Mrs. Olive Huff was in charge of the impressive cantata-drama, "The Easter Revelation."

OLD FRIEND ON RADIO PROGRAM

It was an interesting surprise to many Warren listeners last evening to hear Dr. Willem Van de Wall on the Reader's Digest program in a dramatized exposition of his world-famed music therapy methods.

An old and close friend of Dr. LeRoy B. Campbell, Dr. Van de Wall lectured in Warren a few years ago under the auspices of a community psychology class held under Dr. Campbell's guidance.

Dr. Van de Wall's work is the subject of a current Reader's Digest article, his friends will be interested to learn. After reaching the zenith of his career as the world's greatest harpist, he gave it up to return to Vienna to study under the world's leading psychologists, earned his doctorate and returned to America, where for the past decade he has demonstrated the effectiveness of music in bringing about cures and improvement in those suffering every type of mental and physical disorder and has again become world famous.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

Stewart Jacquins, baggage master at the Penny, is up in arms over something over the reputation that Buddy Burke could do a buck and wing with a trunk on his shoulder. Stewart claims he can do it and wants us to arrange for an exhibition. . . . And George Daum recalling the entertainment staged when Company I came back from the Spanish-American War and Tracy Greenleaf sang "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground." We just can't remember that one. . . . That high wind Saturday raised some Old Ned about town. One of the big bill boards on Mohawk avenue between the railroad tracks was toppled over and a big tree in Water street was toppled over. Branches were torn off trees and shrubs about town and the damage will be considerable. . . . Bobby Jule, the young juggler who has appeared here as an entertainer at the Moose and Marconi Clubs, is preparing to go overseas as a USO entertainer. Bobby has four brothers in the service. . . . Charley Danvers in his column Pittsburghesque, this morning remarks "Lee Carter," the dancer, suffered an attack of appendicitis and had to cancel her engagement at the Marconi Club in Warren."

Paul Coe is nursing a sore arm jammed up when he fell at his wall paper emporium and paint dispensary. Says it sort of cramps his style just when all the girls are seeking wall paper to redecorate. . . . In the latest issue of "Women in Crime" the good old airport murder case is trotted out again and Mary Semnick is given more publicity. . . . Many kiddies called in Saturday morning to inquire "What time is the Easter Egg Hunt?" . . . Pigeons cooing in the cupola of the Evangelical church every morning as we percolate from the police station. . . . From the look of the police docket this morning most of the folks seemed to have observed Easter in a fitting spirit. Little on the docket of an unseasonable nature. . . . Traffic on the highways over the holiday was a bit heavier than usual as many had saved up their gas for a trip.

Howard Kelly, formerly of Tionesta but now of Franklin, mails the Tionesta Republican the following explanation of the floating island reported in the Republican several days ago:

"Dear Editor:—I just finished reading an article in the paper about an island floating down the river. I believe that I can offer you an explanation.

"For a number of years there has been a large boat lodged in the willows at the head of Baker Island. This boat was probably seventy-five feet long and thirty feet wide. At one time Wayne Cook and I were going to float it down to Tionesta, but thought there was too much work involved to get it into the water. The boat was in good shape and there would not be any question that it would not float.

"I have been back to look at this several times since then, and the willows were then growing inside the boat. As for the evergreen trees I cannot vouch, but I remember correctly there was one hemlock tree growing in the boat.

"Due to the heavy ice at the head of Baker Island, and the high water that we continue to have I believe that the boat could have become dislodged and floated down the river.

"The willow bushes and the hemlock tree would account for the boat might not float high enough to show from any great distance.

"I hope that this might throw some light on the Floating Island."

Despite continuing food shortages the Agricultural Department is advising farmers to keep their stocks low, pay up debts and keep all buying at present price levels down to a minimum so they won't get caught in the coming price slump. . . . One reason for the pork shortage is that farmers were told to cut down on the pig crop. So lots of folks who customarily had ham for Easter enjoyed their hamburger. . . . Mrs. George Clark, of the Metzger-Wright office, reporting to work with a lunch sack that looked like she was going to a picnic. . . . Dry cleaners enjoyed a land office business during the weeks just before Easter. . . . Constable Joe Sullivan in his shirt sleeves viewing the landscape over yesterday evening from the Revere House veranda. . . . Trains plenty crowded over the weekend with space in the buses at a premium. . . . Assemblyman Allen Gibson, of Sheffield, in town Saturday sporting some new chatters that make him look every inch a statesman.

Well, for one thing, the hens didn't let down in the Easter supply of hen berries for the Easter baskets. . . . Who had all the cigarettes over the weekend? Our favorite dealer didn't even have a pipe. . . . Many of the country schools that lost a few days during the big snow opened this morning in an effort to make up a day. . . . Enoch, the office devil, is raising a mustache and he claims it's for the purpose of kissing the gals and brushing them off at the same time. . . . This Ray Bimler fellow who has all those weather jiggers for sale at his department store, must have a hunch some place, as he has been predicting snow, and the old weatherman comes along and O. K. the prediction. . . . Bill Chapman gets his sheepskin at Temple University Medical School and becomes a full fledged medic. . . . Congratulations!

Additional Blue Angels Are Needed

The U. S. Army Medical Department is calling for help in the form of women to help the services of army hospital staffs whose numbers are too few to cope with the flow of sick and wounded from overseas. These thousands of casualties are placing a heavy burden on the army hospitals and it is imperative that the overworked doctors and nurses receive help—AT ONCE.

The kind of help that they need is the kind of help that any intelligent, healthy, and earnest woman can give. It consists in the performance of general hospital duties of a nonprofessional nature which is required by our sick and wounded.

Women interested in hospital training will become Blue Angels and will be trained at an Army General Hospital medical school for three months and will then be assigned to an Army general hospital for duty. The Blue Angels will be under the supervision of Army doctors and nurses and will perform a variety of duties in Army hospitals. While the standards for enlistment are high, they are not too difficult for the average woman.

The applicant must be between the ages of 20 and 50. She must have had at least two years of high school and have no dependents under 14 years of age.

Any question you may have concerning this opportunity will be answered by Lt. Mary A. O'Connor and Sgt. Claude A. Van Andel who will be in Warren on Tues. April 3, 1945 from 2 to 7 p. m. Remember NOW is when you are needed. Our wounded cannot wait.

Community Canneries Are Popular

Many thousands of Pennsylvania housewives took advantage of the community canning centers during the past year, thereby removing from the family kitchen the dirt and heat that accompanies the usual canning operations. In 1943 centers in Pennsylvania that past year farmers' wives and victory gardeners gathered to take advantage of the canning equipment, retorts and pressure cookers provided through the schools for the preservation of foods. Large blanching vats and tables were available for the preservation and canning processes.

In canning centers conducted by the public schools of Pennsylvania the actual canning instruction is usually preceded by lessons in the production of vegetables. Also, a series of lessons on nutrition is scheduled. This is of vital importance. The war has revealed many of our shortcomings with respect to our lack of knowledge regarding proper nutrition. As a result classes in nutrition are springing up throughout the state in many centers where home-making departments are operated in connection with the public schools. This instruction accompanied by lessons in the preservation of food by modern methods will be very helpful in correcting this situation.

In many of our rural communities, smaller towns and even in some of our larger cities housewives gathered and canned their supply of fruit and vegetables for this year. The by-product of this instruction resulted in the canning of many hundreds of thousands of cans of food. If you are not a patron of one of these groups, contact your local agricultural adviser or home economics adviser regarding the availability of this service this coming summer.

Haegg Leaves For Homeland

Buffalo, April 2—(AP)—Priority-placed Haegg, swift Swedish skier, sails for Sweden this week after a disappointing American tour during which he was defeated three, won once and lost an airline race to Buffalo for his final appearance.

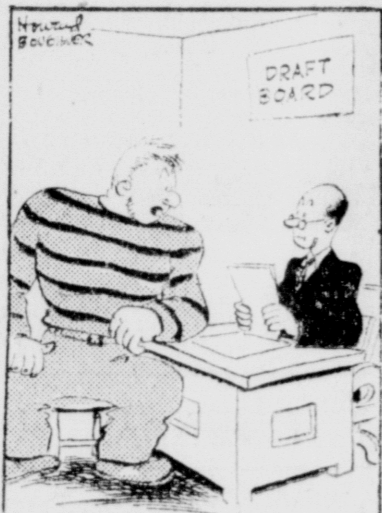

While "Gunder the Wonder" toured in this city where he was "bumped" from an American Airlines plane by a person with a higher priority, Jimmy Rafferty of the New York Athletic Club cracked Paavo Nurmi's 20-year-old Buffalo record of 4:12 with a 4:10.9 mile Saturday night.

The invitation mile featured a track and field meet at the 74th Regiment Armory. Ed Dugger, Dayton, Ohio, set a new American indoor record of 8.3 seconds in the yard invitational high hurdles, clipping one-tenth of a second off the mark established by Allan Tolmich of Detroit in New York City, March 31, 1940. Tuskegee Institute of Alabama retained its National Women's AAU team championship.

The Swedish swiftie found Rafferty his nemesis three times this season. Haegg finished last in the Louis Zamperini mile at the ICA 4A meet in New York City March 3, 50-hours after he had stepped from a storm-tossed freighter that took 23-days to cross the ocean.

A week later, Haegg placed fifth in the six-man Columbian mile of the Knights of Columbus games in New York City and lost a third time to Rafferty in Chicago March 17.

The "Smorgasbord Special" scooted to the first victory of his 1945 United States invasion in Cleveland March 23, edging Forest EFAW of Bainbridge, Md., naval Training Station. Rafferty did not run.

Champion material—in a big bowl of milk, fruit, and Wheaties. Will you eat Wheaties—when your "Breakfast of Champions." Solid nourishment packed in those crisp-toasted, malt-sweet flakes. Boy! Will you eat Wheaties—when your appetite meets up with that famous "second helping" flavor.

Marion Ends Holdout; Gets a Raise; One-Legged Pitcher Hurls Hitless Relief Inning

Behind the Lines

So you think you're going to play golf? If you do, don't lose any of those precious balls or you may not play another day—the wartime athletic equipment shortage is becoming acute. If you have had in the back of your mind through the long winter months a yearning to invade the open—such as golfing, mushball, baseball, or any other outdoor pastime—then you'd better act quickly, or remove such desire from said mind. There will be no more sporting goods equipment manufactured for civilian use. Boiling that down to words means that if you can get hold of golf balls, mushballs, baseballs, bats, mitts, or any equipment, get it. Any item made of critical materials like leather, wood, textile, or rubber is rapidly disappearing from the shelves and stock rooms of sporting goods dealers.

Just a line to the hunters—if you can pick up any shells, do it, and if you have any shells, use them sparingly. The government has ordered all dealers to stop all sales of ammunition to civilians. No ammunition for the civilian users has been shipped from plants and warehouses since December, and now dealers are not permitted to sell any shells, whatsoever.

Four Oil City cagers will be inducted this week into the navy, all of whom battled the local cagers twice during the past season. The quartet is composed of giant center Jerry Wood, stellar forward Dave Pearson, Dick Stoughton, and Ed Vandenberg. All were on the starting five.

Attention Fritz Kennett: During one of the more torrid games of the recent N. C. A. basketball tournament Howard Cann of N. Y. U. just couldn't bear to watch any longer so he turned around, asked: "Why does anyone coach basketball?" Kentucky's Adolph Rupp, sitting behind him, commented softly: "Remember, Howard, you applied for the job." "Yes," admitted Cann, "stealing another look, but that was twenty years ago." Times have changed, haven't they?

Plans are being completed for the annual City League basketball banquet, which is to be held next Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. All league officials, players, and several others are on the attendance list.

When Navy lost half of its football games in 1896, U. S. Naval Academy authorities ruled against outside competition for 1897.

Batting Power, Outfielders Weak as White Sox Strive to Boost Club Into First Division

By CHIP ROYAL
AP Newsfeature Sports Editor
Terre Haute, Ind.—All the baseball players love a good hitter. Any and all tips are appreciated, especially if they come from a fellow who is starting his 25th year in big time.

Today's professor is Bing Miller, the bronzed White Sox coach, who smacked the old apple for 1,937 hits in 1,821 games for a major league average of .312 in 16 years as a player.

Bing was sitting in his favorite hotel lobby chair, minding his own business, when he conversed got around to the lack of good hitters.

Shortened His Bat
Taking an extravagant puff on his black after-dinner cigar, Miller gave out in his soft Iowa voice:

"I've watch a lot of the old timers and the boys coming up. They all want to swing from the end, hoping they'll hit that long ball. That's why the batting averages have been falling off lately. 'First of all, most of them haven't got those Popeye arms under the elbow to swing the wood like that. They haven't developed their muscles above the wrist.

"Did you ever notice when you shake hands with some of the youngsters, how weak they grip your mitt? Give me a kid with a firm grip and I'll make a hitter out of him.

Don't Be Overanxious
"Another thing," advised Bing, "the hitters today don't pay enough attention to the pitcher. They stand too far away from the plate and are too anxious to swing.

"When I was up there, I never swung at the first one. I took a crunch right over the platter and watched a couple go by. In doing that, I could see what kind of control the pitcher had, and could time my swing a little better.

"I learned a long time ago that a pitcher has to give at least one good one. Just be ready for it, when he does, and the hits will come easy."

Speaking of hits, the White Sox hope they can get a few more this year and move up to the first division. Much depends on whether Manager Jimmy Dykes can get another outfielder (the only has four now).

The famed cigar-smoking leader also will have to do considerable work in his infield with only one holdover from last year likely.

The pitching staff should be adequate with eight veterans around. Two of them, Thornton Lee and Bill Dietrich, will be out to qualify in the "100 major league victories" club. Lee needs four wins and Dietrich eight

J. Scalise Gets Honorable Mention On AP All-State 5

Joe Scalise, veteran Warren Dragon cager who topped all opponents in the Section Two scoring department, along with taking the local honors, has been given honorable mention in the Associated Press All-State basketball team. Scalise, a three-year veteran on the Blue and White squad, caused numerous sensations during the 1944-5 season with his exceptional shooting ability, especially in the Warren Sharpville playoff.

The first and second teams and those who received honorable mention along with Scalise follow:

Barons Down Hershey For 1-Game Lead

Cleveland, April 2.—(P)—Cleveland's Barons—one up but a long way to go—collide tomorrow with Hershey's Bears in the second game of the American Hockey League's Calder Cup playoff finals. The league percentage champion Barons will skate out on the arena ice with a two-point lead as a result of their 3 to 2 victory over the Bears in Saturday's opening fracas.

But if records mean anything, the Clevelanders had better not start considering the $5,500 winner's purse in their pockets just yet.

The Barons, outplayed and outscored for more than half Saturday's game, tied the contest and then went ahead on two perfect plays in the final period while goalie Harvey Teno shut the door on the desperate Bears.

During the regular season, the Clevelanders had a fairly easy time with most of their opponents—except Hershey.

In chocolate town the Barons were able to take the measure of the Bears only once. Hershey won one and the other three contests were ties.

On their home ice, the Barons couldn't do much better against the battling Bruins. Cleveland won two out of five, tied two and lost one.

Since Hershey entered the American League in 1938, the Bears and the Barons have played 77 games and are still even—with 32 wins apiece. Thirteen other contests resulted in ties.

In this war-time series, the Calder Cup goes to the team first collecting eight points (two points for a win, one for a tie which is possible because of the amusement curfew). The series is limited to eight games. Should the teams be tied at the end of eight games, the championship would be decided by total number of goals scored.

The third and fourth games will be played in Hershey Thursday and Saturday with the teams returning here Sunday for the fifth game if necessary. If the series goes beyond five games the teams will play alternate games in Hershey and Cleveland.

Commissioner To Be Named In Two Weeks

BY JIMMY JORDAN

Chicago, April 2.—(P)—Major league baseball worried no more about the prospects of play this season, now apparently is ready to settle down and end all the speculation over a successor to the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis as its high commissioner.

In fact, President Will Harridge of the American League says it is possible a new commissioner will be named within a couple of weeks.

Harridge's statement came after a committee of four club presidents announced Saturday it was ready to recommend candidates for the office. The committee was named soon after Landis' death last November to investigate possible candidates and to submit its recommendations.

The four committeemen are Alva Bradley of the Cleveland Indians and Don Barnes of the St. Louis Browns, representing the American League, and Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals and P. K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs, representing the National League.

Penn State's first and only night football game was played against New York University in 1941.

Bill McKechnie Jr., son of the Cincinnati Reds manager, captained the Penn State baseball team in 1935.

Webster says:—"Alarm—A call to arms for defense."

A Bell that rings for Liberty... Every Morning

Millions of alarms have rung since our people were forced by war to clench their friendly hands into hard-hitting fists. Some of the hands were dainty and beautifully manicured . . . some were wrinkled and tired . . . but, all proved equal to the biggest job that ever faced this or any other land.

Our nation has shown that it can produce the sinews of war on a scale never believed possible before. New found energy, ingenuity and skills have given our people self-reliance. They are determined to apply themselves to the task ahead until final victory is won.

Surely, the seasoned veteran and self-disciplined civilian, working together, will master whatever problems peacetime may present. The future for America and for all of us can be as bright as we wish to make it.

People who get results agree that there is no substitute for hard work and also that recreation and relaxation are essential to accomplishment. In your well-earned leisure, select a beverage of moderation. A tall, stately glass of Budweiser is a standing invitation to make your moments of relaxation complete.

Layden Plans Mergers For Grid League

Chicago, April 2.—(P)—Professional football really is feeling the pinch of war and the manpower shortage. So much, in fact, the National Football League may be trimmed to eight clubs next fall through mergers of several teams, says league president Elmer Layden.

The proposed mergers are only in the discussion stage at present, Layden says, but the discussions may crystallize into something definite at the league meeting which opens in New York Friday. Layden feels the mergers would, as an emergency measure, be a good thing for the league, but adds that any new combines are strictly up to the club owners.

Mergers reportedly being discussed at present would have the Chicago Bears and Chicago Cardinals playing under one name next fall, Brooklyn and Boston, and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

Pittsburgh and Philadelphia combined in 1943 and enjoyed a successful season, but last year the Steeler-Cardinal combine failed to win a game.

Layden pointed out the suggested mergers, especially in the case of Pittsburgh and Brooklyn, would bring not only the squads, but also the coaching staffs, to near-normal proportions. Neither has a head coach at present. The mergers also would aid in curtailment of transportation.

NOTRE DAME WORRIED OVER COACH SCARCITY

South Bend, Ind.—Time was when spring football practice at Notre Dame brought out more than 300 hopefuls for positions on the Rambler eleven. This year there were but 54.

However, it isn't a scarcity of players that is worrying the athletic department. It's a scarcity of coaches.

Few coaching staffs ever have been broken up more quickly, or completely, than that which led the Irish last season. Within a month, head coach Ed McKeever resigned to go to Cornell; Adam Walsh joined the Cleveland Rams' staff, and Clem Crowe, who also coached at Iowa.

PEAK OF SEASON

Miami—Sale of stamps for military scenic postcards is consid'ng an accurate barometer of sightseeing crowds at Hialeah. The peak of the season was reached on Sunday when 2,700 stamps were sold for cards. Before the war single day sales reached as high as 3,500.

SHEFFIELD IN "BEEHIVE"

Miami—Calumet Farm's hopes for Mail Victory for the 1945 Kentucky Derby—should it be run—have evidently been abandoned. The son of Blenheim II has been shipped to the farm at Lexington. Trainer Ben Jones still has formidable racers in Pot O' Luck, Good Blood and Battelfire.

Note: This is a copy of a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Noah Hess from their son Robert on March 12, 1945:

Dear Dad and Mother:
Psa. 91, 124, 125, Praise God, our deliverance from the hands of our oppressors was truly miraculous. The rescue was timed to the minute and just in nick of time. God is never late. The more we hear of what had been planned against our camp, the more we realize the greatness of our safety. We have suffered the loss of all things temporal, but have such other safe and sound. Lying in a ditch beside our quarters to dodge bullets, hectic packing, hurrying along the road to freedom, too weak to take our things, they were left. Again dodging Japs, then to a beach where amphibians received us to carry us to safety. Overhead planes, about us a guard, visible and God's Host (invisible). Then to a new destination and freedom. What days of hunger we passed through last Sept. October was like a nightmare as rations were at the lowest. Our little garden helped, but by the end of Nov. our reserve Red Cross supplies were all but gone. Thanksgiving had never been such as that but Hab. 3:17 and 19 refreshed us. Early in Jan. God brought us a partial relief. Then starvation rations. Viola weighs 95 pounds and I just about 100 pounds. The children fared better losing very little, praise God. In the camp beri-beri and malnutrition evident, many deaths. But how good to again and again stand on God's promises, again stand on: Great is Thy faithfulness. Then the spectacular release, and back under the "Stars and Stripes," and good food. The Red Cross will probably help soon. We are quite safe and will get on until things work out as to our return to U. S. A. Victor Glenn was born in our mountain hideout near Malabar, north of Zambouanga on Aug. 12, 1942. Two Filipino nurses attended his arrival, with Miss Loptson as practical nurse caring for Viola after they left. A great event in our camp at that time.

Last April 1944 we moved to the Los Banos camp where there was a chance for gardening, less crowded conditions and more chance for family life. Children had place to play, attended school even dad and mother took in classes for awhile, but from Sept. things went from bad to worse.

But we are full of praise to God and our rescuers. Love, Robert and family.

Members of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Wesleyan Methodist church held an all day meeting at the parsonage. The day was spent in mending and re-mending clothes to be sent to the mountain missions.

The young married peoples Sunday school class of the Wesleyan Methodist church were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marshall.

Mrs. Steven Swenko entertained at a lovely party at the Forge club rooms in honor of her sister, Mrs. Frank Danuski.

Mrs. Arvid Johnson entertained a group of friends at her home to honor Mrs. Joyce Miller Wolfe. A pleasant evening was spent and delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Lucy Chaffee has returned to her home here after spending a pleasant winter in Florida.

Jimmie Fales, who has completed his boot training at Sampson enjoyed a furlough with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. George Fales. Donald Smith accompanied him as far as Buffalo on Saturday.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Inter who have a new little daughter.

Rev. and Mrs. Van Derlin were in Tonesta recently.

Beverly McIntyre played a piano solo at the Lenten Tea given by the Ladies' Aid of the Lutheran church.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hannold and children Roger and Dora spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman of Bear Lake.

Monday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Smith were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith, Mrs. Eleanor Foster and son Clark, Miss Geneva Jones, all of Black Ash, Pa., and Mr. Wm. Hill of Sugar Lake.

Vice-President in charge of Tomorrow !

Yes, she's a woman.

Wife. Mother. Cook. Maid of all work. Partner with her man in the going concern we Americans call home.

More than that, as keeper-of-the-household-budget, she's salting away every cent the family doesn't absolutely need for upkeep in a little project she likes to call Tomorrow.

She's putting her money in WAR BONDS . . . the soundest financial backing anyone's Tomorrow ever had.

And because she's a shrewd woman, she is determined to hold on to those War Bonds in spite of any temptation she has to cash them in.

She knows that by holding her War Bonds until they mature, they'll be worth $4 for every $3 she put into them. And she'll have that money when Tomorrow comes!

Of course, the beauty of it all is that, in the meantime, she's giving her country patriotic help in winning the war today!

Smart woman! America needs millions like her.

Water NOT Over the Dam

U. S. First Army's surprise capture of the huge Eder dam, above, on the Weser River near Kassel, was one of the outstanding tactical victories on the Western Front. So suddenly was it taken that the Germans were unable to demolish it and unleash its 336,000,000 tons of water, which would have flooded route to Berlin.

U. S. Third Army Fight Into Kassel, Fulda With Units Within 155 Miles of Berlin

closed yesterday by the First and Ninth armies.

Even as the fate of this whole fighting force was sealed, Gen. Eisenhower's communique in an unusual revelation of the course of the developing campaign declared flatly that the cleanup "will not preclude the advance of Allied armored columns farther into Germany."

That swift advance was well underway.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army had armor less than 160 miles from the battered capital of Germany. Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch had Seventh Army tanks within 45 miles of the Nazi congress city of Nuremberg (Pop.: 431,000)—where he could cut one of the two main trunklines from Berlin through Munich to the Brenner Pass.

Third Army tanks raced to within three miles of Eisenach and 96 of Leipzig in their eastward drive across the waist of Germany.

A security blackout still veiled the surging advances of the British Second Army toward north German ports, but Berlin said the Tommies had advanced more than 35 miles past the Westphalian capital of Muenster to a point south of Bielefeld (128,700). There the British would be 200 miles from Berlin, 125 southwest of Hamburg (1,918,000) and 62 southwest of Hannover (472,500).

The Third Army drive across the waist of Germany was bisecting the Reich and had reached within a half hour flying time of the Russians.

Germany army Group E was composed of the Fifth Panzer army and the 15th Army. Pocketsed along with these were a number of divisions of the First Parachute army as well as thousands of static and organizational troops. The loss of the Ruhr was a catastrophe for Germany. Eisenhower's deputy, Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, said in October that Germany would be defeated within 60 days after that.

The Germans' army Group H in Holland was reported pulling out of that low country because of the hourly increasing threat that Field Marshal Montgomery's drive north of the Ruhr would spring another trap. Disorganized army Group G in the south was reeling back into central Germany.

The backdoor of the Ruhr was slammed shut by the Second and Third armored divisions at Lippstadt. Parachute 18 miles to the east, (38,000) fell.

The first probings of the trapped Germans was felt northwest of Frankenberg. The enemy was searching for a thin spot but there seemed little chance that he could muster the force or achieve the mobility for a major break.

Mass Atrocities Are Reported Peace Threat

Stockholm, April 2—(P)—The Free German Press Agency said today without confirmation from any source and without giving authority for its statement that Hitler plans the mass murder of Allied prisoners of war, hostages from occupied lands and the remaining Jews if his "last proposals for a humane peace" are rejected.

(The Stockholm bureau of the P transmitted this dispatch "for information." It says it can not vouch for the reliability of the Free German Press Agency's reports.)

Extension of Expired Coal Contract Sets Stage for New Crisis

negotiations here this week, the United Mine Workers and coal operators will be engaged in contract discussions covering virtually all the nation's coal fields.

Anthracite producers meet today to make preparations for the negotiating sessions while the 36-man UMW wage scale committee will convene just before the first joint meeting Wednesday to complete their demands.

Meanwhile, the month-old bituminous coal discussions are proceeding in Washington.

The UMW and anthracite operators will negotiate for a new two-year contract covering approximately 65,000 Pennsylvania miners.

The current pact, which expires April 30, was signed only a year ago after months of negotiations, two major work stoppages, government seizure of the pits and WLB intervention.

Number Hurt in Series Of Auto Crashes

Weaver stated he was blinded by glare from approaching headlights and swerved to the center of the highway, knocking the left front wheel from the Anderson car and scraping the side of the Clark vehicle. Clark, in turn, was driven into the Anderson machine, which had pulled off onto the berm and was at a standstill. Damages, the officer stated, would be about $100 to each vehicle.

The state police learned of but were not called on another Saturday accident, which occurred in Sheffield. Four-year-old Charlotte Ann Wenker, struck by a car said to have been driven by Mrs. Lynn Atkins, was admitted to Warren General Hospital and treated for a deep laceration on her nose, another on her upper lip and cuts about the face. She was also suffering shock. X-rays taken to determine possible skull fracture revealed no serious injury and she was discharged from the hospital Sunday.

Eugene Ray Williams, 17, of Warren RD 3, was admitted to Warren General Hospital Sunday after the car in which he and Joseph Graziano, also 17, of 1315 Pennsylvania avenue, west, skidded off the highway in the vicinity of Lander and struck an abutment. Williams suffered a severe laceration of the forehead and lower lip, bleeding to such an extent that plasma was administered. He is still at the hospital but his condition is described as good. Graziano was shaken up a bit and felt faint, but skull x-rays failed to reveal any serious injury. State police were not called on this accident, either.

Has Purchased Fine Building On East Side

Louis Fredrickson today completed negotiations for the purchase of the two-story brick building at Elm street and Pennsylvania avenue from Mrs. Martin Jones. The building is one of the best located on the avenue section. He will take possession at once.

John Johnson, who for some years has conducted the Ideal Bakery on the lower floor of the building has just disposed of the bakery to James Intihar, of Jamestown. He will continue the bakery with the high class service and products and has taken a five-year lease on the store room. Mrs. Jones will continue to make her home on the second floor. Mr. Johnson will enjoy a vacation for a time and on his return will be employed in the bakery.

The deal is one of the best that has been made in that locality for some time.

Yanks Push Eastward On Vital Island

Invasion of Okinawa was the greatest amphibious operation of the Pacific war. Nimitz placed 1,400 ships of all types at the disposal of Adm. Raymond A. ## V-E Day Committee to Hold Meeting Friday Evening

A meeting of the Warren Committee for V-E Day Celebration has been called for Friday evening at eight o'clock at the Moose club, and it is the hope of the executive committee that all members, who will receive cards reminding of the event, will be on hand.

At that time there will be a general checkup of the plans as adopted last summer after the invasion of France, which includes an organized program for the day and evening after the news of capitulation or surrender is received.

It will be recalled that it was decided that upon that when official announcement of capitulation is received in Warren all whistles including sirens will be blown and church bells will be rung for five minutes. The Times-Mirror will be the authority for the news flash. U. S. Flags should be displayed as soon as possible on every business establishment and home in Warren.

The executive committee meeting frequently during the past six months, held a session Friday evening when reports were received from the various committee chairmen.

The immediate reaction to the news of the surrender will be one of thanksgiving. So, the first arrangement will be to have all churches open for those who desire to return thanks for the cessation of this part of the hostilities.

Further details regarding the plans will be outlined after the meeting Friday evening, unless events should justify calling the committee together earlier than that date.

Notice is hereby given that on March 21, 1945, Peter C. Ostergard and Harry M. Ostergard presented their petition as owners of premises on the southerly side of Rankin Street in the Borough of Warren, Pennsylvania, being a portion of Inlot Number 326; that a mortgage upon said premises remains of record, given by Lawrence Peterson to Helping Hand Building and Loan Association, dated September 20, 1890, and recorded in the Recorder's Office of Warren County in Mortgage Book 14, page 16, for Eight Hundred Dollars ($800); that the period of twenty-one (21) years has elapsed since the date thereof and no payment of principal or interest has been made within that period, and praying for satisfaction thereof.

Whereupon the Court ordered that notice thereof be served by the Sheriff on the mortgagee or whoever may be the known holder of said mortgage, or to give notice by advertisement requiring them to appear in said Court on April 25, 1945, to answer said petition and show cause why the proper decree of satisfaction should not be granted.

L. E. Linder, Sheriff.

APRIL 9, 1942.—AMERICAN AND FILIPINO TROOPS SURRENDERED TO JAPANESE AT BATAAN.

APRIL 12, 1861.—FORT SUMTER FIRED ON, BEGINNING THE FOUR YEARS OF STRUGGLE WHICH ENDED APRIL 9, 1865.

APRIL 15, 1912.—THE TITANIC, THEN THE LARGEST SHIP AFOAT, SANK AFTER HITTING AN ICEBERG IN NORTH ATLANTIC WITH LOSS OF 1517 LIVES.

APRIL 18, 1942.—SQUADRON OF AMERICAN PLANES LED BY BRIG. GEN. JAMES DOOLITTLE BOMBED TOKYO, NAGAYA YOKOHAMA AND KORE.

Maybe the astrologists can explain it, but whether it was so fated in the stars or just accidentally happened so, April has proven a month of disasters. Adolf Hitler, please note.

Pennsy Spends Heavily Along Local Division

During the past few months the Pennsylvania railroad has been literally pouring out money on this division. Due to the heavy war traffic a great strain has been put on tracks, bridges and rolling stock and repairs have been a big item.

Laying of heavier rails between Erie and Emporium is going forward steadily and the work has been carried forward in good shape. For some weeks passed the track laying crew has been located at Sheffield but last Saturday was moved to Kane. The crew carries a large amount of paraphernalia and numbers about 100 men. They will be located at Kane for some time and work out of that town.

Another crew of carpenters is located at Johnsonburg where they are making repairs to tracks torn up by the grain train wreck of last week and also rebuilding a small bridge which was torn out in the wreck. Numbers of the damaged grain cars are on a siding at Johnsonburg.

With settled weather due there will be many other repair jobs undertaken and the supervisors will have a busy summer getting tracks in shape for the handling of the heavy ore shipments that will soon be coming down the lakes. Navigation on the great lakes has been opened and fleets of empty boats are now going up the lake for cargoes of grain and ore.

FARM NEWS

Lengthen Dairy Rotation—Lengthening the dairy farm rotation to provide more and better pasture and help improve the dairy farmer's situation in the post-war period when competition probably will be keener and prices lower, explains J. B. Dickey, extension agronomist at the Pennsylvania State College.

Plant Strawberries Early—Set strawberry plants as soon as the soil is in condition, advises L. J. McCartney, fruit extension specialist at the Pennsylvania State College. It isn't necessary to wait until the danger of frost is past. More growers will be using their own plants since commercial stock is short.

Spray Apple Trees—Orchardists are advised by extension specialists of the Pennsylvania State College to apply the first apple sprays—dormant and delayed dormant—to kill scale insects, aphid eggs, red mita eggs, and to reduce early scab infection.

Cicadas Soon to Arrive—Cicadas—17-year locusts—are scheduled to emerge late in May in six eastern states, including 15 eastern Pennsylvania counties. Because of damage done to young trees, Pennsylvania State College extension specialists urge that tree plantings be deferred until next year.

Select Best Heifers—Instead of raising inferior calves only from high producing cows, a sounder practice is to raise those from cow families that have proved ability for transmitting high production, urges R. R. Welch, extension dairy specialist at the Pennsylvania State College.

PITTSFIELD

Pittsfield, March 29—Our Boys Service Club met in the Pittsfield school on Monday evening. John S. Smith presided at the business meeting. Games were enjoyed. Mrs. Ford Osgood and Mrs. Albin Abraham with their committee were in charge of refreshments.

Senior Girl Scouts of Troop 16 met at the home of their new leader, Mrs. Metro Teconchuk on Monday evening. Visitors were Mrs. A. N. Correll, Girl Scout Executive Secretary of Warren, Mrs. H. G. Franklin of the Scout Committee, Mrs. Eleanor Foster and Miss Geneva Jones of Black Ash, guests of Mrs. Margaret Smith, the former leader of the troop. Members of the Troop presented Mrs. Smith with a lovely gift to show their appreciation of all she had done for them.

Beverly McIntyre entertained the Troop at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley McIntyre and Priscilla Thompson was hostess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Thompson. At this meeting plans were made for the new afghan which the troop will make. At the meeting at the home of Mildred Danilson the afghan which had been given to the Red Cross was returned because it must be made larger to be regulation size.

On Saturday evening the Boy Scouts of Troop 29 entertained in the U. B. church parlors at a farewell party honoring Scout Ernest McGraw who will leave this week for the navy. Guests were Senior Girl Scouts of Troop 16. Following games a delicious supper was served in the church dining room. Scouts and their parents extend thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Leason Hamnold who did so much to make the party a success.

Theo Franklin has been in the Warren General Hospital under observation. Best wishes for a speedy return to health.

Nurse Cadet, Veronica McGraw spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. Mary B. McGraw and brother Ernest McGraw, who has enlisted in the navy.

Mrs. Marian Baxter and Miss Pearl McIntyre of Warren spent a few days with their parents to help celebrate the birthday of their mother, Mrs. Clair McIntyre with a family supper party. The table was attractively decorated in pink and white, centered with a lovely birthday cake trimmed with pink roses. Mrs. McIntyre received many lovely gifts and cards.

We are again enjoying spring weather. The snow and sleet of last week did more damage to the trees in this locality than all the snow of the winter. In spite of the heavy snow of the winter the deer seem well fed, as many have enjoyed seeing large numbers in the evening feeding on wheat fields near the highway. Metro Teconchuk wished for his camera when he counted 47 deer in a group who were feeding near the road as he was returning from work. Metro also reports that his father, Mr. Pete Teconchuk had been putting hay out for the deer all winter when they came to his farm daily to find food.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Smith were guests at a dinner on Friday evening given by Mr. and Mrs. Ward Holder of Diamond, Pa., to honor the 47th Wedding Anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Holder of Chapmanville, Pa. on Saturday they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith of Black Ash.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Smith were Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Holder of Chapmanville and Mrs. Smith's brother, Rev. J. Norman Holder of Sheakleyville.

Mrs. L. J. Elghmey, Mrs. Garner Wilcox, Mrs. Metro Teconchuk, Mrs. Arvid Johnson and Mrs. T. Avery were the local workers on the Red Cross War Fund Drive.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to Mrs. Andrey Smith of
